Off with a blast

Cannon triggers opening of United Way campaign

The Sedalia-Pettis County United Way campaign began Wednesday morning in a way that fund-raising leaders fully expect to be repeated at least 10 more times before the month is out — the firing of William R. Parkhurst's cannon on the courthouse lawn.

A large gathering of volunteer workers walked south across Fourth Street, where they had attended a breakfast at the Bothwell Hotel, to witness the cannon shot, which resulted in the air suddenly being filled with bits of shredded paper, dozens of startled pigeons and shouts of anticipation for the month-long campaign ahead. Many of the workers stood next to an annual fixture of the United Way campaign, a large thermometer with the number $100,350 painted at the top.

It was announced at the breakfast that the cannon will be fired again for every $10,000 in money and pledges collected during October.

"We wanted to get the drive off with a real blast and to keep it alive in the minds of everybody this month," explained campaign chairman Lloyd Banaka. "We figured this would be a good way to do it and with Richard's (Parkhurst) help, we are going to be able to do exactly that."

Addressing approximately 70 persons at the breakfast, Banaka told them "it will take a lot of effort, enthusiasm and strength" to reach this year's goal. He particularly encouraged volunteers to mention the payroll deduction plan, in which regular donations are automatically deducted from paychecks, when soliciting for contributions and pledges.

He also predicted that at the Nov. 7 victory dinner, "We'll be celebrating a real triumph because we will have reached our goal."

Also speaking were United Way President Robert Fritz, Chamber of Commerce president K. U. Love Jr., last year's campaign chairman Russ Woodyard and City Councilman Robert Eidson.

"The challenge ahead of you is realistic and worthy of your

Ford urges mayors to lobby for program

SKOKIE, Ill. (AP) — President Ford, carrying out a pledge to continue "prudent and practical" travels around the country, urged a group of small-city Midwestern mayors today to lobby hard with Congress for an extension of the general revenue sharing program.

Meeting with 33 mayors from four states in a hotel ballroom here, Ford noted that the program is due to expire at the end of next year. Under the program, the federal government transfers billions of dollars to state and local governments annually.

Ford said that some in Congress would delay, modify or scrap the program, and he urged the mayors to "work on your representatives and members of the Senate to push for action."

"Don't be complacent. Get organized ... we cannot afford to get caught napping," the President said.

Ford met with the mayors about an hour after a security scare outside his hotel — the second such incident of his two-day Midwestern trip.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the man, identified as Thomas Weber, was thrown out of the hotel Tuesday night for loitering and appeared outside the building today with his hands in his pockets. Nessen said Weber punched Skokie police Sgt. Philip O'Keefe when he ordered the man to take his hands out of his pockets.

The man was arrested, but Nessen said he was not armed and the Secret Service did not regard him as a threat to the President.

On Tuesday, a woman who was allegedly carrying a pistol was arrested outside a hotel room where Ford was staying during a visit to Chicago.

Among the mayors to question Ford at his morning conference was Lyman Parks, an old friend from Grand Rapids, Mich.

Parks suggested that an abrupt ending an emergency federal program to provide public service jobs would work a hardship on the unemployed. The President promised to give the question of an extension or phase out of the program careful consideration.

Ford told the Chicago audience Tuesday night that he expects to visit by the end of the year the 11 states he has not seen as President.

Actually, Ford told a Republican fund-raising dinner in nearby Chicago Tuesday night that he still had 12 states to go before visiting all 50. However, aides later said his speechwriters made a mistake and that he has already visited 39 of the 50 states.

Following incidents 17 days apart in California in which two women pulled guns on Ford and one fired in his direction, new security measures were introduced in Chicago.

Police with hand-held metal detectors mingled in crowds near the Conrad Hilton Hotel where Ford spoke, and a veteran Chicago policeman said security was the tightest "since the Democratic convention (in 1968) — the most policemen ever for a presidential visit."

County jobless rate dips to 6.9 per cent

Pettis County's unemployment picture continues to show dramatic improvement, with an August jobless figure of only 6.9 per cent reported Wednesdday.

This compares to a July figure of 9.3 per cent. The initial figure given last week for July was 8.9 per cent, but it was later revised upward, said Bill Giles, manager of the State Office of Employment Security here.

Giles stressed that the August figure was also preliminary and subject to adjustment.

The figure reflects a total county work force of 14,330, Giles said, of which 989 are out of work. This is the first time in six months the total number of jobless has dropped below 1,000.

Giles said increased hiring in business and industry accounted for the lower rate in August, especially the new McGraw-Edison plant.

"We can feel it here too," Giles added, "we've got a lot less claims than we used to have."

The statewide unemployment average was 6.8 per cent in August.

With some fluctuations, the Pettis County jobless picture has followed a downward trend since last February, when it stood at 12 per cent. A preliminary figure of 15.1 per cent for that month as well as others was later revised by the U. S. Department of Labor in keeping with its own guidelines.

Good news also came from the Missouri Pacific shops Wednesday, which announced that an additional 11 men will be recalled Monday.

Superintendent Paul Edwards, said this would boost the total work force to 37. The shops dropped from 120 to 10 last February when MoPac headquarters in St. Louis ordered it closed down.

Edwards said all of the called back employes would be put to work repairing cabooses. He would not speculate on how soon additional employes might be recalled.

Iowa man convicted on 2 counts

JEFFERSON CITY — Richard A. Haes, 32, Des Moines, Iowa, was convicted by a federal jury Tuesday night on both counts in a federal indictment in connection with the Aug. 16, 1974, showing in Sedalia of a motion picture entitled "The Devil in Miss Jones."

Haes was charged with "conspiring to case the interstate transportation of a lewd, lacivious and obscene motion picture film" and being a "common carrier causing the transportation" of the film from Des Moines to Sedalia.

The nine-woman, three-man jury heard two days of testimony in the trial, which began on Monday. During the trial, the jury viewed the film in its entirety, returning its guilty verdict in less than 45 minutes, after receiving the case at 9:15 p.m. Wednesday.

The government's principal witness was Loy Holman, former operater of the Sate Fair Twin Cinema in Sedalia, where the film was shown.

Paul Anthony White, assistant U. S. attorney, who handled the case for the government, said, "Haes can receive a maximum of 15 years in prison and $15,000 in fines, plus the cost of the prosecution (for the case)."

U. S. District Judge Elmo B. Hunter ordered a pre-sentence report on Haes prior to sentencing. No date for sentencing was set, pending completion of the report.

Spanish terrorists kill three policemen

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Terrorists shot and killed three policemen and gravely injured a fourth in Madrid today a few hours before an estimated 300,000 Spaniards roared their support to Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

The 82-year-old Franco waved from the balcony of the National Palace as those in the Plaza de Oriente stretched out their arms in the Fascist salute and sang the Falange anthem, "Face to the Sun."

With his wife on one side of him and Prince Juan Carlos, his heir-designate, on the other, Franco said the tribute made "amends for the attacks abroad" in reaction against Spain's execution of five convicted police killers.

The four coordinated attacks by one or two gunmen on isolated policemen on guard duty signaled bloody defiance of Western Europe's only remaining dictator on the 39th anniversary of the start of the Spanish civil war that brought Franco to power.

The shots were fired within 15 minutes of each other and four days to the hour after firing squads executed five terrorists and set off a torrent of foreign protests.

Madrid's labor organization issued orders Tuesday for members to gather in the plaza today for the show of support. The mayor also issued a call, and people threw announcements from cars in the downtown area of the city of 3.6 million. The size of the crowd was estimated by newsmen and photographers.

As Franco gave a five-minute speech, mostly drowned out by the crowd, right-wing gangs spread through the city.

The new deaths raised to 22 the number of Spanish policemen killed in terrorist attacks by urban guerrillas and Basque separatists since January 1974. In addition to the men killed today, a policeman died Tuesday of wounds suffered in a $600,000 robbery Monday in Barcelona that police blamed on Basque guerrillas.

The attacks occurred on three sides of Madrid, in the northern, eastern and southern parts of the Spanish capital. But there was none in the western part, where the National Palace is located.

One policeman on duty outside a bank in east Madrid was killed instantly. Two others died from their wounds later in the morning.

All the gunmen escaped.

The government declared a holiday for all factories, schools, shops and offices.

Festival promoters

Judge dismisses indictments

WARRENSBURG — Felony charges of confidence game violations against three 1974 Ozark Music Festival promoters were dismissed Tuesday afternoon by Johnson County Circuit Judge Robert Russell, who said information contained in the charges was too vague.

Judge Russell sustained a motion to dismiss charges against Robert Shaw, Sal Brancato and David Kinton, all of Kansas City and officers of Musical Productions, Inc. (MPI). The group promoted the festival at the State Fairgrounds in July 1974.

The case was in Johnson County on a change of venue from Pettis County.

Prosecuting Attorney Gary Fleming, speaking of the dismissal, said, "I feel the same way about this case as I would about the dismissal of any criminal case."

Judge Russell declined to elaborate on his ruling.

Shaw, Kinton, and the group's president, Christopher Fritz, also face misdemeanor charges of misleading advertising, to be heard Jan. 7. In addition, Fritz faces a felony charge of importing out-of-state persons into Sedalia for security purposes at the festival. That case is set for Dec. 18.

Shaw, Kinton and Fritz remain free on bond.

The four men were indicted in November 1974 by a Pettis County grand jury.

According to Fleming, a confidence game charge is "essentially receiving a thing of value with misrepresentation of a thing of value."

Last year's grand jury report showed MPI referred to itself as a Missouri corporation on Feb. 19, 1974 in a letter to State Fair Secretary Ron Jones. MPI was not incorporated until March 8, 1974 at the Secretary of State's office, the report stated.

The grand jury also determined the claim that "advanced tickets would be limited to 50,000" was misleading since the grand jury discovered 180,000 advance tickets were printed.

Another part of the grand jury report dealt with the city's apparent loss of about $1,500 in license fees.

Promoters of the festival contacted city officials concerning these fees, especially for concessionaires, and learned each concession stand operation had to pay a minimum of $25, unless one or more concession was operated by "one legal entity."

Shaw had been informed, the report said, "by three different sources." He was also told that if he incorporated "the arts and crafts concessions under one type of legal entity, this one license would suffice."

After questioning various concessionaires, the jury "determined they (MPI) were never organized or incorporated. It appears to the grand jury the city of Sedalia was deceived of between $1,475 to $1,500 by Shaw's misrepresentation," the report stated, because Shaw evidently told city officials the concession operations were incorporated.

Requests from the city to prove this, the jury noted, were never met. There were an estimated 60 arts and crafts concessions on the grounds during the festival.

Ann Landers

Husband's flattery never falls on wife

Dear Ann: I'm almost ashamed to bother you with my little "ego problem," knowing that so many others have crushing burdens. But it's beginning to get to me and I'd like your opinion.

Al and I have been married 20 years. We have two wonderful married children. Al is a fine provider and a morally upright person. He appreciates good-looking women but is by no means a skirt-chaser. Here's my complaint: In all the years we've been married he has yet to give me a real compliment. I'm not a raving beauty but my figure is good and I do make an effort to appear well groomed and smartly dressed.

Al can't seem to bring himself to tell me I look "nice." It's pretty hard to understand because I've heard him tell other women, "You look smashing in that outfit," or "That shade of blue is just right for your eyes." He seems to find the most enchanting words for everyone but me.

Yesterday I wore a new dress. It was nothing spectacular but it did flatter my figure. Al said nothing. When I asked for a comment he replied, "Your underwear is showing." (My slip was peeking through the neckline.) I was simply crushed.

I compliment him often, select his ties and shirts. People tell him he looks sharp. He enjoys the praise but it stops there. What do you make of it, Ann? — D. Flated

Dear D.: Sounds as if you've married a peacock, Lady. Obviously he compliments other women to curry favor. With you he doesn't feel it's necessary.

Tell Al you know he appreciates your efforts to look pretty for him, but say, "I need to HEAR you say it." Explain that one teeny-weeny compliment from the man you love can make your whole day. And don't give up. You're 30 years late with the training program, dearie.

Dear Ann Landers: My best friend's ten-year-old son has a nervous condition. She is having a terrific battle with her son's teacher because the teacher wants to get the boy transferred to a private school.

The teacher's complaints sound valid to me. The child disrupts the class because he gets up and goes to the bathroom every half hour, eats special candy, chews gum, falls asleep from the medication and makes a general nuisance of himself.

I don't believe any child should be accorded privileges just because he happens to have an illness. In fact, such privileges encourage the child to view himself as a special person.

Teaching school today is very hard work. A kid like this can make it a lot harder. What's more, it's a public school and the extra time spent on one student takes time from the others, which is unfair. I'm with the teacher. Where do you stand? — Objective-Minded

Dear On The Other Side Lady: What about the kids who don't have illnesses but are a pain in the neck to teachers? Do you want to get THEM out of the public schools, too?

Teaching school today is an enormous challenge. It requires a great deal of patience, understanding and love for children. That teacher who is trying to get the nervous child transferred should be transferred herself — to another line of work.

Shortage of $120,000 uncovered

KANSAS CITY (AP) — An audit of the Kansas City Blue Cross-Blue Shield plan has uncovered a shortage of at least $120,000, and three persons, including an employe of the plan, have been arrested and charged, police said.

Frank Adae, president of the insurance plan, said all losses are covered by a bonding company. "Therefore, there will be no net loss to the corporation or our subscribers," Adae added.

Charged with stealing more than $50 in connection with the case were Caroline J. Johnson, 25, a pricer with Blue Cross-Blue Shield; Vernadine Fisher, 50, and Richard Alexander, 34, all of Kansas City.

Miss Johnson and Alexander were held on $50,000 bond each, Miss Fisher on $5,000 bond. Preliminary hearings Tuesday for Alexander and Miss Johnson were continued.

Police said a fourth person was being questioned, and that other arrests may follow.

Adae said it appeared that 100 to 150 allegedly false claims had been paid over a period of a year.

He said the shortage had no effect on the dip in cash reserves reported last month in a letter to area physicians, attributed at the time to an precipitous increase in medical fees.

Growing older

Forgetting isn't all that bad

By HAROLD BLUMENFELD

Have you ever drawn a blank trying to remember a name which should be almost as familiar as your own? Or gone into another room at home and forgotten what you went in there for? Suddenly it all comes to you but meanwhile you're frustrated and worried that your memory isn't what it should be and maybe you're "losing your marbles."

It isn't all that bad because a lapse of memory isn't necessarily a sign of aging. Younger people also can and do forget. When grandson forgets, he's cute or maybe mischievous. When his father doesn't remember, he's only forgetful. But when grandfather forgets, he's senile.

My wife Gerry and I attended a lecture on "growing older" delivered by Dr. Edith Lord, professor of psychology at the University of Miami, in Florida, and adjunct professor of clinical psychology at the School of Medicine. A man rose from the audience to say he was terribly upset because often he tries to think of a name but can't recall it. Dr. Lord answered, "Why, that happens to me all the time and I'm not the least bit upset by it."

A few weeks later we spent a day with Dr. Lord and Gerry mentioned the man's question and asked her if she really throught there was no impairment of our mental faculties as we grow older. Her response was most comforting. She said, "When I was eight years old my mother sent me upstairs to get two things. When I got to the top of the stairs I remembered only one and had forgotten the other. I had to call down to mother to refresh my memory. There was no suggestion by my mother or other members of my family that, because I was eight years old, I was losing my memory. And when I was in my early twenties and teaching at a university, I had forgotten to put on my shoes. I stood before my class in bedroom slippers. There may have been titters and remarks about the 'absent-minded professor' but no one implied that I was losing my mind." Apparently, many people are obsessed and worried about lapses of memory and this applies to younger people as well. And for those of us who are aging, we may have almost total recall of things we saw, heard or did in the past yet we can't remember something which happened yesterday or what we had planned on doing today. Perhaps it's because many things of the past seem more important to us. However, you have lots of company because many people do forget names, places, dates, song and book titles, etc.

Some memory experts recommend association as a means of remembering names and this often works. It can also lead to one calling Mr. Fox, Mr. Wolf. But if Mr. Fox has a sense of humor, he'll probably laugh. If he doesn't, cross him off your list.

Repetition and connotation also can help keep up strolling along memory lane, but this once backfired for Alan King. Some years ago, the comedian-actor was scheduled for a command performance in London and had been told he would be presented to Queen Elizabeth after the show. For days he practiced his greeting, "How-do-you-do, Your Majesty, How-do-you-do, Your Majesty." He kept reciting the greeting to himself to make sure he would say the right thing. After the performance he was introduced to Queen Elizabeth who said, "How-do-you-do, Mr. King." "How-do-you-do, Mrs. Queen!" was his flustered answer.

Really, a lapse of memory isn't important. If you forget, don't fret — with an exception. Don't ever forget that certain special someone's birthday or your own wedding anniversary.

Hormones need careful use

Dear Dr. Lamb — Your answer to the woman who has been suffering from hot flashes for 15 years totally ignored her question! Although she has moved to a new community and should get a family doctor, her real concerns are her low energy and hot flashes.

I am curious why you did not tell her to go to a gynecologist who would put her on hormone therapy. Surely that is a widespread enough practice by now, even if some doctors are still against it.

I get so angry with physicians who, because they are males and do not experience menopause, dismiss it without a thought! Hot flashes are real and very uncomfortable. I am a 25-year-old woman who had both ovaries removed, and I take Premarin daily. I can always tell when I've forgotten to take my hormone pills.

I suppose you'd say that hormones are warranted in my case because of my age. I would say they are warranted in hers also. I especially emphathize with that poor woman because I also happen to have low blood pressure and low energy. During the summer, hot flashes and low energy are no picnic. I would like nothing better all summer than to sit at the edge of a swimming pool, sipping mint juleps — or something along those lines.

Dear Reader — If you read my column regularly you would know that I often recommend estrogen replacement for those whose who need it and have no medical problems that would be made worse with these hormones.

Hot flashes are one of the manifestations of the menopause that can be greatly benefited by giving estrogen. What you fail to recognize in your rush to judgment is that many of the symptoms you think of as related to menopause are also caused by a number of other medical disorders. I don't assume I know the cause of every symptom a person tells me about, but happen to believe a good history and examination may provide a better basis for a decision regarding treatment.

Depression, anxiety, thyroid disorders and a host of other problems are often in the middle of the group of symptoms labeled "neopause." It is important to know the problem before treating it. The lady had a number of problems and deserved more than the superficial answer that hormones were all she needed.

You may not realize also that many women going through the menopause do not have a significant decrease in estrogen levels. Giving more estrogen to a woman who is already producing a normal amount is a questionable practice. An examination will reveal which woman needs hormones, as you obviously did, yes, at your age. I would suspect that the doctor will be quite able to sort out which symptoms belong to what and what to do about it.

I understand your faith in hormones because most young women with your history do need hormone replacement.

student reports

Three Smith-Cotton High School students recently were named "commended" students in the merit program by the National Merit Scholarship Corp. Although students who receive commendation represent less than 2 per cent of those expected to graduate in 1976 and rank high in National Merit Scholarship qualifying tests, their scores were just below those of the semifinalists in the competition.

The students commended from S-C are William A. Barrick, son of Mrs. Lillian Rages Barrick, 1500 West Broadway; Laura D. Gage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gage, 2501 South Stewart; and John W. Lewellen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lewellen, Route 2.

American invaders go after petro-dollar

(Editor's Note — An invasion by American civilians is under way in the oil-rich Persian Gulf, despite fears expressed in some quarters in Washington that their presence could involve the United States in a Middle East shooting war.)

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent

DUBAI, Union of Arab Emirates (AP) — Thousands of American industrialists, military advisers and arms salesmen storm ashore in the Persian Gulf each week in a business blitzkreig to capture petro-dollars.

Already 70,000 to 80,000 Americans live and work here in Dubai and five other oil-rich nations bordering the Gulf. Many are Vietnam veterans fresh from unemployment lines.

They fly the Shah of Iran's Boeing tankers, operate his helicopter school at Isfahan, teach infantry tactics to the Saudi Arabian national guard and show Bedouin cameleers how to fly fighter jets. They create whole new industrial cities and American-style suburbs out of sandy nothingness, train the pilots, stewardesses and baggage handlers for Iraq airlines, and equip and staff entire hospitals and medical schools. Among other bizarre undertakings, like providing phosphorescent safety jackets for camels crossing Abu Dhabi's new four-lane expressway, they have finished building a hotel in Mecca, Saudi Arabia, by remote control TV cameras because only true Moslem believers could visit the construction site in Islam's holiest city.

By the end of the decade, Pentagon officials predict, 150,000 Americans will be in the Gulf carrying out billions of dollars worth of arms contracts and billions more in economic projects that already have resulted in a U.S. trade surplus in the area despite the oil price increase.

"What Vietnam was to the Sixties, the Gulf has become to the Seventies," says chopper jockey Tom Forbes of Jacksonville, Fla., a Vietnam veteran teaching Iranian cadets to fly the Shah's 700 new helicopters. "It's where it's all at. The big difference here is that nobody's shooting at you. And, for a change, Uncle Sam isn't footing the bill."

Jobs are plentiful for semi-skilled hard hat or skilled white coverall types.

Salaries for Americans range anywhere from $1,500 to $3,000 a month and in some cases housing and schooling allotments are made for families.

But prices are high. A small jar of peanut butter, for example, costs $5 in Iran and a coffee is $8 a pound in Kuwait.

George Roche, a welder from Gary, Ind., said he saved up 19 unemployment checks for a ticket to Tehran, Iran. "I filed 12 applications, had nine interviews and got nine job offers. Several firms said they'd fly my family over, but I can't find an apartment here for under $1,000 a month with a sit down toilet." Roche plans to keep his shipyard job long enough to pay his return air fare.

The rental of a two-bedroom villa in Bahrain has tripled in price to $1,200 a month in the past year. The Tehran American School was launched in 1954 with 92 students. This fall it opens its doors to 3,000 and has plans to accommodate 5,000 students.

Congressional and other critics of U.S. arms sales in this highly volatile region fear the presence of thousands of Americans could trigger an incident that could involve the United States in a shooting war.

Industry's answer, like the Defense Department at most Washington hearings, is that the Gulf oildoms want American weapons and know-how and can afford it on an unprecedented scale that already is redeeming the U.S. recession-ridden economy. If spurned, the argument goes, they will shop elsewhere for their arms, in Britain or France, or even in the Soviet Union, losing the United States both a customer and a friend.

More than half the Americans now living in the heat and dust of the Gulf are advisers and technocrats directly involved with the $10 billion worth of U.S. arms peddled in the area since 1973, chiefly to Iran and Saudi Arabia.

Each week, sometimes three times a week, a chartered Boeing 707 leaves Fort Worth, Tex., for Iran bringing wives and children of the 1,600 Bell helicopter employes at Isfahan. Soon the fabled city of turquoise mosques, which already has a sizeable colony of Hughes electronics folk and Raytheon missile men, in addition to a Russian steel mill and a Du-Pont fibre plant, will be home for 1,400 Grumman aircraft employes and their families.

To house the burgeoning foreign colony, a satellite suburb is being built on the outskirts of Isfahan for 10,000 people. It is called Shahin Shahr, "City of Eagles."

It will be a typical American suburb with barbecue ovens on the lawn, motor bikes in the driveway and basketball hoops over the garage door.

For 160 years, right up until independence was granted in 1971, British officers of the famed Trucial Oman Scouts kept the peace in the feuding emirates of the Persian Gulf with a camel cavalry and a couple of dusty squad cars. Now even the smallest, richest city-state, like Abu Dhabi with its Rapier missiles and Mirage jets, wants to be its own version of a superpower. Kuwait, with squadrons of both U.S. Skyhawks and French Mirages, is in the market for TOW anti-tank missiles and other sophisticated systems.

The Shah of Iran, budgeting in the billions for defense, is determined to carry out his self-appointed role of policeman of the Gulf with the most modern weapons available.

Saudia Arabia has embarked on a 143 billion, five-year development program that will require importing two million foreign workers.

"We're not mercenaries," insisted Robert Williams of Bedford, Tex., president of Bell International, on a tour of the Isfahan helicopter base. "We're here to make peace not war."

DEATH NOTICES

M. Patrick McCarty

M. Parick McCarty, 94, 116½ East Main, died at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday at Bothwell Hospital.

He was born Jan. 25, 1881, in Minnesota, and was employed here as a farm worker for the past 20 years.

Graveside services will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at Crown Hill Cemetery with the Rev. Robert Magee officiating.

The body is at the McLaughlin Funeral Chapel.

Andrew B. Harriman

Andrew Briggs Harriman, 89, formerly of 908 West Seventh, died Tuesday at the Holmesdale Convalescent Center in Kansas City.

He was born in Missouri, Sept. 30, 1886, son of the late James H. and Mary Briggs Harriman. He married Ida M. Truex in 1910 and she preceded him in death in 1966.

He had been a resident of Sedalia since 1914 and was a member of the Broadway Presbyterian Church. He moved to Kansas City in 1972 to live in a retirement home. Mr. Harriman was a former auto dealer and also a grain and feed dealer for Adrian from 1935 to 1956.

He is survived by a grandson, Briggs Harriman, Kansas City.

Private graveside services will be held at 1 p.m. Thursday at the Pilot Grove Cemetery with Dr. Roger E. Williams, pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian Church, officiating.

The family will receive friends from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Heckart-Gillespie Funeral Home.

Walter Howery

IONIA — Funeral services for Walter Howery, 71, who died Tuesday, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Fox Funeral Home, Cole Camp, with the Rev. Paul Bond officiating.

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery, Sedalia.

The family will receive friends from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Wednesday at the funeral home.

Ora Elvin Miller

GRAVOIS MILLS — Ora Elvin Miller, 67, died Monday at Bothwell Hospital in Sedalia.

He was born Sept. 19, 1908, in Atchison, Kan., son of the late Pearl and Nora Mae Whittington Miller. On Aug. 20, 1928, he married LaVonne Roe, who survives, of the home.

He worked as a body and fender finisher in Kansas City for 35 years, retiring in 1973 and moving here that year.

Also surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Norma Jean Pasmore, Overland Park, Kan.; one son, Robert C. Miller, Kansas City, Kan.; and six grandchildren.

A prayer service will be held at 6 p.m. Wednesday at the Kidwell-Garber Funeral Home in Versailles with the Rev. Clarence Wiederholt officiating.

Graveside services and burial will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday at St. Patrick's Cemetery, near Laurie.

Friends may call at the funeral home after noon Wednesday.

Mrs. Nellie Schilling

LEXINGTON — Mrs. Nellie L. Schilling, 69, died Thursday at a hospital here.

She was born in 1906 in Hodge, Mo. She was a member of Dover Christian Church.

Survivors include one son, William Foster, Sweeet Springs; three daughters, Mrs. Melvin Poundstone, Windsor; Mrs. Ira Clifton, Sarcoxie, Mo.; Mrs. Forrest Bartley, Lexington; nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 3:30 p.m. Saturday at the Baughn-Walker Chapel here.

Burial was in Dover, Mo.

Chairman of new ambulance district named

SWEET SPRINGS — Marvin Lee McKeage was elected chairman of the newly-formed Sweet Springs Community Ambulance District Monday.

Other officers elected were H. T. "Bud" Borchers, Blackburn, vice chairman, and Lester Harms, Sweet Springs, secretary-treasurer. Those three and board member C. A. Staples were sworn in Monday by Saline County Clerk Eddie Clouse.

Clouse will give the oath of office to the other two board members, Larry Zimmerschied and Max Thomas, both of Sweet Springs, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the city hall here.

It was also announced Monday that the tax levy for the new district was set at 15 cents per $100 assessed valuation. However, present plans are to immediately borrow enough money to purchase an ambulance and hire at least two attendants, prior to the receipt of tax revenue after Jan. 1.

Paul Radcliff of the Missouri Human Resource Development Corp., will present rules and qualifications for ambulance operators at Wednesday night's meeting.

Included in the district are portions of southwestern Saline County and northwestern sections of Pettis County.

Open for business

As the ribbon was cut Wednesday morning for the new J. C. Penney store in Thompson Hills Shopping Center, a crowd of first shoppers rushed in looking for bargains. Here, Martha Seivers, left, a store employe, holds the ribbon while Paul Hedderich, a retired store manager, cuts it. Between Mrs. Seivers and Hedderich are Jim Edwards, store manager, and, at right, John McDermott, regional sales and merchandise manager. (Democrat-Capital Photo)

Penney store opens at a new location

The J. C. Penney store officially opened for business in its new location at the Thompson Hills Shopping Center Wednesday morning after a ribbon to the front door was sliced by former long-time store manager Paul Hedderich.

A concert by the State Fair Community College Chorus, remarks by government and corporate officials and a tribute to Sedalia by store manager Jim Edwards also were a part of the grand-opening ceremonies. About 50 people gathered on the shopping center parking lot in front of the store building for the opening.

"This expansion has been made possible by the combined efforts of many citizens over the years," Edwards said. "We have been in Sedalia for 55 years and we are very proud of that fact. We look forward to serving the community for many years to come."

John R. McDermott, Dallas, Tex., regional sales and merchandise manager, also thanked the audience for "endorsing our enterprise ... and making our growth possible."

Mayor Jerry Jones, who noted that one of his first jobs was at the downtown Penney's store, said the store relocation and expansion "is a mark of the business climate in Sedalia and in the area ... I know Penney's will continue to be a large contributor to the success of Sedalia."

Jones also expressed hope that a new occupant for the vacated Penney's building space at Third and Ohio will be found soon.

Also speaking were State Rep. James Mathewson and State Sen. John Ryan.

Men enter guilty pleas to charges

WARRENSBURG — Two Lincoln men pleaded guilty Tuesday in Johnson County Circuit Court here to a charge of selling a controlled substance.

Bill Wilson, 23, and Dave Erlenbusch, 24, were charged with making a marijuana sale for $40 on March 10, 1973 while a State Highway Patrol undercover agent was present.

Wilson and Erlenbusch were arrested by Benton County sheriff's officers and the Missouri Highway Patrol in Lincoln. The sale of the drug was allegedly made in a house in Sedalia.

The defense and prosecution agreed on a change of venue to Johnson County.

Wilson and Erlenbusch have been free on $10,000 bond each since October. Both have filed applications for probation.

Judge Robert Russell ordered a presentence investigation. A date for sentencing has not been set.

Prosecuting Attorney Gary Fleming said he recommended five year sentences for both and made no recommendations concerning probation.

CB radio stolen from truck here

A citizens band radio, valued at $215, was stolen from a truck owned by Furnell Lumber Co., 2200 West Main, Alva E. Lemens, an employe, Route 3, told police Tuesday. She said employes parked the truck at 2200 West Main May 29 and when they returned Tuesday, they found the driver's wing window pried open, the door unlocked and the radio missing.

In other police news, two separate incidents of tire slashings were reported Tuesday.

John Lippert Jr., 1114 East Ninth, told police vandals slashed both tires on the driver's side of his car parked in front of his home. He said the tires, valued at $100, were cut between 12 p.m. Monday and 7:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Charles D. Goosen, 1719 South Carr, reported two tires, valued at $60, were cut within the last two weeks.

A television set, valued at $350, was reported stolen from a car belonging to Kathy Wagner, 722 North Prospect, around 6:30 p.m. Tuesday. The car was locked and parked at her home at the time of the theft, police said.

Medicare expenses will go up $12 in '76

WASHINGTON (AP) — Persons hospitalized under the federal Medicare program will be required next year to pay at least the first $104 of their medical bills, up from the present $92, the government says.

The Social Security Administration, blaming hospital costs that are rising 50 per cent faster than the cost-of-living, announced Tuesday it will shift to a new schedule of higher rates for most services starting Jan. 1, 1976.

The out-of-pocket charge for the average hospital stay will be raised 13 per cent from the current $92, the agency said.

The new amount is equivalent to the average cost of one day of hospitalization, Social Security Commissioner James B. Cardwell said. The average Medicare stay now is about 13½ days and costs $1,400.

The new rates also mean Medicare patients will pay additional costs of $3 a day for extended hospital stays and $1.50 daily for long-term posthospitalization nursing home care.

Of the 24.1 million people receiving Medicare coverage, 22 million are aged 65 and over and 2.1 million are disabled.

Beginning next year, Medicare beneficiaries who stay in the hospital more than 60 days will pay $26 daily for the 61st through the 90th day. Currently they are charged $23 a day.

For extended nursing home care after release from the hospital, the patient will be charged $13, compared with the current $11.50, for the 21st through the 100th day in a skilled nursing home.

After patients pay the initial charges, Medicare will pay all bills for the first 60 days in a hospital and the first 20 days in a skilled nursing home.

Medicare also provides a "lifetime reserve" of 60 extra hospital days that a beneficiary can use when he needs more than 90 days to recover from an illness. The daily out-of-pocket charge for that once-only benefit will increase to $52 from the present $46.

The monthly charge for Medicare beneficiaries who choose optional medical coverage for doctors' bills will not change. That rate has been frozen at $6.70 since July 1974.

Grease fire causes damage to kitchen

Fire caused an estimated $400 damage to the kitchen in the home of Fred M. Cruzan, 1202 East 10th, shortly after 11 a.m. Wednesday.

Fire officials reported that a pan of grease apparently ignited on the stove and the fire spread to the wall and ceiling behind it.

Damage to the house was estimated at $250, with $150 to the contents.

hardest work," Eidson said. "The challenge is to make this citizen-to-citizen endeavor a success." Love, noting that he knew most of the men and women seated in front of him, said, "They work hard for the Chamber and I know they'll work hard for the United Way too."

Woodyard lauded the United Way as one of the last remaining causes "in which everybody in the community can get together and get involved with up to our eyeballs because it is something we all really believe in."

The following division chairmen were recognized: Advance gifts, P. A. Sillers; labor participation, Bill Hiatt; county, Dick Dalton; public service, Walter Savio; commercial, Joe Bode; retail, Tom McCully and Rob Liston; finance, insurance and real estate, Don Braden; major firms, Owen Smith; industrial, Ivan Stewart, Fritz and Woodyard; educational, Dr. Allan Henningsen; professional, E. Also introduced were Mike Walker, marshal of the recent United Way parade; Bill Boatman, who painted and erected the thermometer sign; County Court Judges John Bluhm Jr. and Russell McFatrick; United Way secretary Mrs. Helen Gray; and Banaka's personal secretary, Carol Lemke, who is helping in the campaign. Not present at the breakfast was Paul Schroeder, who constructed the thermometer.

House kills 8.66 per cent pay increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today killed the last chance of an 8.66 per cent pay raise for Congress and top government officials, voting instead to hold the increase to 5 per cent.

The outcome was a victory for President Ford, who opposed the 8.66 proposal as inflationary.

The 5 per cent raise goes to senators and representatives, federal judges, the vice president, cabinet members and top government officials and white collar employes and military personnel.

Representatives and senators currently make $42,500 a year. Federal judges receive $36,000 to $42,500. Supreme Court associate justices and cabinet members are paid $60,000 and the vice president and chief justice $62,500.

The House Post Office and Civil Service committee and the full Senate already have voted to back Ford's 5 per cent pay hike recommendation.

Spainhower plans to seek second term

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — James I. Spainhower ended speculation today about his 1976 political plans, announcing he will seek a second term as state treasurer.

Claiming he feels content that the office operation has served the public interest since he took over in 1973, Spainhower said "I would be the first to acknowledge that the full potential of the office has not yet been realized.

"One of the major factors in my decision to seek a second term as treasurer is a desire to lessen the gap between reality and that potential."

Art Linkletter to speak to teachers

WARRENSBURG — Art Linkletter, noted television personality, will be the guest speaker at the annual fall meeting of the Central Missouri Teachers Association at Central Missouri State University here Friday.

Linkletter will speak on the subject, "Influencing People," at 9 a.m. Friday. The yearly meeting begins Thursday, when 200 delegates from area Community Teachers Associations are expected to attend. An estimated 4,0000 to 5,000 teachers are expected for Friday's general session in Garrison Gymnasium.

Linkletter has more than 30 years of radio and television broadcasting to his credit and has earned one Emmy and been nominated for four others for his daytime program "House Party." His book, "Kids Say the Darndest Things," is rated among the 15 best sellers in American publishing history.

Linkletter's current efforts are focused on a crusade against drug abuse in the U. S., and involves writing, speaking and broadcasts on the drug crisis.

Earthquake shakes island of Sumatra

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Meteorological Department in Jakarta recorded a large earthquake centered at Bengkulu on the southern coast of Sumatra, 300 miles northwest of Jakarta, today. There were no immediate reports of casualties.

The department said the earthquake's magnitude was 5.8 on the open-ended Richter scale, meaning considerable damage was possible in populated areas.

The U.S. Geological Survey earlier reported measuring a force of 7.0 for the quake in Sumatra, meaning widespread, heavy damage was possible.

The Survey, at Golden, Colo., said the quake occurred at about 11:30 p.m. EDT Tuesday, or at about 10:30 a.m. today Sumatra time.

☆ Convicted

He is free on $5,000 bond.

A co-defendant in the original two-count indictment, Kenneth M. Heard, 33, Kansas City, pleaded guilty Sept. 18 to reduced charges of causing a lewd and obscene motion picture to be removed from the Sedalia theater to prevent it from being seized by federal agents. He was placed on probation for one year.

No charges were filed against Holman, White said, because evidence indicated film promoters misrepresented the contents of the X-rated film to Holman and he was not aware of the nature of the film.

The controversial X-rated film was cancelled by Holman after its first evening of showings at the Sedalia theater.

Holman said then that he decided on the action because "I think this thing is the worst thing I've ever seen."

A ctronversy over the movie, banned in some areas because of its pornographic nature, arose after City Attorney Robert Liston said he received complaints about the film being shown here.

Liston said he also declined to prosecute Holman because Holman volunteered to remove the film from the theater.

Changes made for women cadets

By MIKE WATERS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — After months of studies, the Army says that about all it needs to prepare West Point for its first women cadets is to change the bathrooms around.

Army officials have hit a snag trying to adapt the plebe's tight-fitting gray uniform for women, but they have given that problem to some outside designers to solve.

Women can apply for the Army, Navy and Air Force academies contingent on President Ford signing a military authorization bill which includes a provision for admitting women into the military universities.

The Army started preparing for women cadets last summer in anticipation they'll be entering the class of 1980 next July 6.

Lt. Col. Thomas P. Garigan, public affairs officer for West Point, describing Tuesday what the Army has done to prepare for its first class of women, said one of the academy's biggest problems was that "we knew darn little about women."

To get an idea of what changes might be necessary in West Point requirements, Garigan said members of the Women's Army Corps and other military women were tested on the pull-up, one of the academy's physical fitness requirements.

The pull-up is like a chin-u only with the palms of th hands facing outward, rather than inward.

Of those tested, only one per cent could do the six pull-ups required by the academy for admission, Garigan said. As a result, West Point might use some of the physical tests used by the WACs.

He also said the biggest problem with women is that they lack sufficient upper body strength, which he said will have to be developed so they can load tank guns or work with heavy equipment parts.

But Garigan said the Army is finding very few problems with bringing women into West Point.

He said women will not be allowed to play football because West Point is a National Collegiate Athletic Association member and the NCAA bans females from the sport. He said they will be kept out of boxing and wrestling because of the possibility of breast injury.

But they can substitute sports like karate or judo for boxing and westling. Garigan said. There will be no changes in academic training and few, if any, in combat training.

They will be housed in barracks with male cadets in an arrangement that puts men and women at opposite ends of hallways.

"The only significant change" in the barracks will be in the latrines, which will include changing some of the plumbing and partitions to separate the mens' and womens' sections, he said.

About 300 women already have inquired about gaining admission but so far only 11 have submitted applications, Garigan said.

He said the Army has not set limits on how many women will be admitted as the first female plebes, but he said it would take about 50 to 100 to make the program work.

The Army is committed to making it work, Garigan said, adding that West Point "assumes women can do anything a man can do until there's a data base showing otherwise."

Polly's pointers

Cat litter a soft solution

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — I was interested in Sharon R's problem with her youngster being annoyed by another one while in the checkout line at the grocery and the other child's mother just laughing. If Sharon had had the time she could have suggested that the offender shake hands with her youngster. Surprises often settle a troublesome situation; sometimes I have made a funny face, whirled around, jumped up and down, started to sing a nursery rhyme or counted the buttons on the offending youngster's jacket to stop such trouble. I am a sitter and I try to divert their minds from such problems when possible. — MRS. E.W.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with those women who have garage sales and then leave their signs up after the sales are over. This looks very tacky and is also misleading. So come on, ladies, let us get those sad looking, out-dated signs down. — PEGGY.

DEAR POLLY — Not too long ago S.M. wrote that she would like to dye or spray paint her sofa and you discouraged her and suggested slipcovers. I want to tell her that a few years ago we dyed an aqua colored, heavy nylon sofa dark green by applying that popular commercial dye for clothes that comes in liquid form in a bottle. Dilute according to directions and apply with a small scrub brush or possibly a man's hair brush with a handle. Wear rubber gloves and work out of doors if possible so the sofa will dry faster. Our results were beautiful and lasting. — ESTELLE.

Polly's problem

DEAR POLLY — I would like to know what would remove the odor of cat urine from a cotton-nylon upholstered sofa. I would appreciate hearing about anything that might help. — MRS. C.G.D.

DEAR MRS. C.G.D. — I suggest that you spread cat litter that has a deodorizer in it across the seat of the sofa under the cushions and leave it for several days. Change to fresh litter and repeat if need be. Cat lovers, do you have any other ideas? — POLLY.

meeting adjourned

"In order to have freedoms, responsibility must be accepted," James B. Rice, attorney, said at the Saturday meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution at Bothwell Hotel.

All lawyers and courts do not give laws the same interpretation, he said. It is not a straight line, but a bumpy road, for the courts in making decisions that seem just. Therefore, Rice concluded, if citizens do not like what is going on, it is their responsibility to change it.

The national defense program, entitled "Do Not Yield to Threats on the Panama Canal," written by John M. Ashbrook, was given by Miss Nell Longan.

Mrs. Robert Maxwell, regent, presided.

CMSU hosts safety conference

WARRENSBURG — The statewide conference for Women in Traffic Safety will convene on the campus of Central Missouri State University here Oct. 9 and 10 to discuss the latest developments in the field of traffic safety.

Guest speakers will include Everett McBride, regional administrator of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration; Paul Collins, director of the Missouri Division of Highway Safety; Charles Pardon, supervisor of driver and safety education; and Roberta Sharp, representative of Kansas Women in Highway Safety.

In addition, seminars will be conducted by Capt. James Dickson, director of training for the Missouri State Highway Patrol; Dale Findlay, executive vice-president of the Missouri Safety Council; and Bob Burgess, coordinator of the Traffic Law System.

The women will have an opportunity to test new driving skills first-hand at the Missouri Safety Center Instructional Park Driving Range. The range can duplicate nearly every driving condition which might be encountered on the highway and specializes in training drivers to handle these situations.

The conference is being held in conjunction with the Missouri Safety Center at CMSU and the Missouri Division of Highway Safety.

Champagne for his queen

Former world chess champion Boris Spassky and his bride Marina Stcherbatcheff, 30, a secretary in the commercial section of the French Embassy, sip champagne after their marriage in Moscow Tuesday. The five-minute civil ceremony was the culmination of months of difficulties with Soviet and French authorities. "I hope this marriage will give me an extra queen in my chess competition," said the 38-year-old Spassky. (AP Wirephoto)

Rope swings banned from Current River

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Tarzan probably wouldn't like it.

The federal government has banned swingers from the Current River in southeast Missouri.

Randy Pope, Ozark National Scenic Riverways superintendent, said it was "standard policy" to remove ropes tied to trees along the river because there have been several accidents along the protected stream when persons swing into shallow water.

But the rope prohibition has prompted state Sen. Joe H. Frappier, R-Florissant, to write Pope to complain.

Pope said rangers and maintenance men do not go out of their way to seek out the swinging ropes, but that they are cut down whenever they are found.

One million excluded from survey

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than one million Americans have given up all hope of finding jobs and have dropped out of the labor market in despair, yet they aren't being counted in the government's unemployment figures, a private study says.

The study, prepared by former Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz and former Labor Department statistician Harold Goldstein, says the government's unemployment figures are accurate as far as they go.

But the study, released Monday, says no effort is made to count the estimated 1.2 million Americans who have lost hope and left the labor force, persons who hold part-time jobs but want full-time work or those whose income falls below the poverty level.

The report was prepared for the National Manpower Institute, a private organization.

In other economic developments Monday:

—Treasury Secretary William E. Simon told Congress that President Ford may decide this week whether to recommend reductions in individual income taxes next year. Simon said the President will meet later this week with his economic advisers to decide if the 1975 tax reductions should be extended through 1976.

—The Treasury Department told the House Ways and Means Committee that it cannot yet predict future government spending trends and is unable to decide on a new national debt ceiling.

Treasury Undersecretary Edwin H. Yeo III said economic and government spending trends are "more than extremely difficult" to predict. He said the Treasury does not yet know how much borrowing authority to request for 1976.

The department suggested that the current debt limit might simply be extended for a month to give the economic picture time to clear.

—A survey for the Super Market Institute, a trade association, said consumers have eased off on their budget-cutting techniques and that more Americans are blaming high prices on grocers.

The survey said in November 1974 a total of 8 per cent of those surveyed blamed grocers for high prices. As of July 1975, that figure had grown to 11 per cent.

Pro moviemaker takes on censor's role

EDITOR'S NOTE — For the first time, Britain's film censorship board is run by a professional moviemaker. He is American-born James Ferman, who describes himself as "a poacher turned gamekeeper." Whatever, he's revolted by sadism and is ready to say, "This far and no further."

By RONALD THOMSON
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Britain's new film censor is an American-born moviemaker who says he's worried by a surge of sadism on the screen.

James Ferman, 45, has taken over as secretary of the British Board of Film Censors at a time of intense public discussion bver the prevalence of cinematic sex and violence.

"I am not a guardian of public morals," he said in an interview, "but I am strongly against sadism and sexploitation in the movies. I can conceive of no society that would not place some limits on what is permissible on the screen."

Ferman, a family man who won a string of British awards as a television drama and documentary producer, was born in New York City but brought to England as a child. His parents are Americans and he retains U.S. citizenship — although his English accent never would betray his origins.

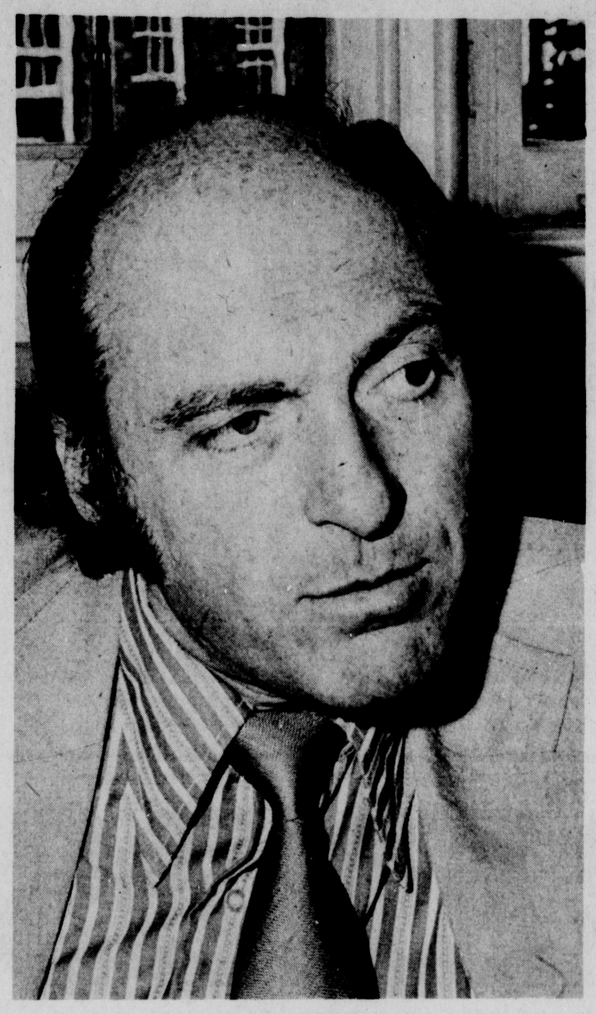
His wife, Monica, is English. They have two children, Lucy, 18, and John, 13.

Before being chosen for one of the most pressure-laden jobs in the film industry, Ferman was in charge of a community mental health program at the London Polytechnic. One of his educational films, "Drugs and Schoolchildren," currently is being shown to educators throughout London.

Ferman takes over as censor from Stephen Murphy, who gave up the hot seat to concentrate on writing and lecturing. Murphy had been blistered by personal criticism over such decisions as allowing the British public to see "Last Tango in Paris," "Straw Dogs" and "The Devils."

Now, for the first time since it was founded in 1912, the censorship board is being run by a professional moviemaker.

Ferman seems unlikely to turn the clock back, although he believes the film industry is "out of touch with the central strand of society which still places a strong value on family life and traditional morality."



New gamekeeper

American-born James Ferman, photographed in his London office, is the new secretary of the British Board of Film Censors. He's the first professional moviemaker ever to run the board, an independent advisory body. He says that although he's not "a guardian of public morals" he considers today's surge of sadism on the screen one of his biggest worries. (AP)

The board is an independent advisory body, originally set up by the film industry to maintain standards and to shield moviemakers from possible prosecution.

It often asks for cuts in a film before granting a certificate for public performance, but rarely refuses a certificate.

There are four categories: "U," suitable for anyone not less than 5 years old; "A," the same, but containing material that some parents might not want their children to see; "AA," for persons not less than 14 years old; and "X," for persons not less than 18. The film "Jaws" got an "A" rating.

Local authorities, however, have the right to change the board's certificate for theaters in their areas and can even allow performances of a film that has been refused a certificate.

Whatever the censor decides almost inevitably stirs controversy. High-minded pressure groups try to convince him to ban more films; moviemakers fight to save their celluloid from the scissors.

The board declined to say which films — or how many — it had banned recently. "That is between us and the film company," an official said.

Relaxing on a couch in his pleasant office overlooking London's Soho Square, Ferman said: "Frankly, I just don't know yet whether I'll turn out to be more libertarian or more repressive than my predecessors.

"But I do know that there is a kind of revulsion against permissiveness in the cinema. It's in the air.

"I suppose I'm a poacher turned gamekeeper, but I hope to work out a kind of consensus with all the interests involved."

Ferman said serious artists must be free to comment on the controversial subjects of the day, but he thought too many "sexploitation quickies" were being churned out.

Ferman added: "I believe our society is not as permissive as we are led to believe. Most people in this country still value family life and the old morality.

"I think someone has the duty to say, 'This far and no further.' We have come very far, very fast. A pause for thought now would do no harm."

Astronauts tell a fishy story

MOSCOW (AP) — Apollo Astronauts Thomas P. Stafford and Donald K. Slayton have taken time out from their official Soviet tour for some fishing in Siberia. They also may have told a fish story.

Arising early on Tuesday, Stafford, Slayton and Soviet Cosmonaut chief Gen. Vladimir A. Shatalov went to the Ob River near Novosibirsk and reported landing 20 fish, several weighing at least 10 pounds.

"Deduct at least 25 per cent for exaggeration," said Slayton's wife, Marjory.

Meanwhile, Apollo Astronaut Vance D. Brand and Soyuz Cosmonauts Alexei Leonov and Valery Kubasov and their families went sightseeing in Novosibirsk.

Pets focus of seminar here Sunday

The Sedalia Kennel Club will sponsor a "Pet Population Explosion" seminar from 1:30 to 5 p.m. Sunday at the Sedalia Community Center, 314 South Washington.

A film, slides and figures on the pet population in the United States will be shown and Dr. Charles L. Peacock of Flat Creek Veterinary Hospital will present a slide-illustrated spaying and neutering lecture. Susie Riesel of Susie's Poodle Shop will also present a grooming demonstration.

Ginger Phillips, chairman of the local group, said that 17 million unwanted cats and dogs will end up in animal shelters this year, with only 14 of each 100 dogs and nine of each 100 cats receiving homes. The rest will be put to death.

She also said plans are being formulated to establish a spaying and neutering program through the Sedalia Animal Shelter, however local support is needed.

On April 23, 1962, U.S. and Soviet scientists agreed to cooperate on a world weather watch by setting up a network of regional forecasting stations tied together by meteorological satellites.

Russian crop information lacking

WASHINGTON (AP) — Compared with the flood of U.S. crop statistics that gush from the Agriculture Department, those available about Russian crop prospects would hardly dampen an average size brick.

According to USDA officials, that is one of the major problems of dealing more effectively with Russia. Crop information is so lacking that good estimates of Russia's import needs are difficult or impossible.

"Soviet officials aren't much interested in forecasting crop output during the growing season," says USDA's Fletcher Pope Jr., an authority on Russia's agriculture. "Their overriding concern is how to meet the production targets decreed by Moscow."

An analysis of Soviet agricultural statistics, based upon Pope's studies, was published this week in a current issue of "Farm Index" by the department's Economic Research Service.

"But don't get the idea that the Soviets are in the Dark Ages when it comes to gathering agricultural statistics," the report said. "Compared with the U.S. system, the Soviet setup is more structured and complex. Also, much of the Russian data are more current than ours."

A big difference, according to Pope, is that in the United States, crop information is used mainly by farmers themselves and by industry officials who make decisions based partly on production estimates as the season progresses. In Russia, government officials are the big clients, using the information to develop state-managed plans and to see how those are carried out.

Further, while USDA makes its information available to anyone who wishes it, the statistics on Russian crops are largely circulated only among government officials.

There are basic differences between U.S.-Soviet agriculture also to consider. There are about 50,000 large, socialized farms in Russia compared with about 2.5 million units in the United States, most of them small, family operations.

While the USDA relies on spot checks, field samplings, mailed questionnaires and other low-key techniques to predict crop output, about 250,000 government bookeepers are kept busy on the Russian farms themselves. Another 10,000 workers collect and process the information.

"Oddly, figures on grain production are not compiled until around Nob. 1," the article said. "Soviet statistical officials say the leadership in Moscow isn't interested in production data during the harvesting season, only in the area of grain cut down into windrows, and that picked up and threshed."

Pope said, however, that "perhaps Soviet leaders are beginning to appreciate the value of foresight" in having regular crop forecasting. After the 1972 drought, which triggered massive purchases of U.S. grain, Soviet leaders issued a directive to collect information on crop prospects.

But so far, he said, no organization in Russia has been assigned the responsibility for making official crop forecasts.

Libya supporting Islamic Call

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Libya is pumping a hefty bundle of its petrodollars into a budding Islamic center to spread the faith in Africa as well as to Christians in Europe and the Americas.

In downtown Tripoli, on the compound of what was the Roman Catholic cathedral only five years ago is now the headquarters of the Islamic Call Society. It directs a network of about 200 "propagators" in 35 branches ranging from Brazil to Japan, Denmark to Kenya.

The society, also maintaining close contact with North America's black and white Moslems, is financed in part by the four per cent holy war tax Libya imposes on income and sales. Its budget is put at 20 million a year and it is increasing.

While it provides an international apparatus for strongman Moammar Khadafy's revival of Islamic fundamentalism at home, its fervor and zeal supply challenge to the delicate and carefully nurtured detente between Christianity and Islam, the world's two largest religions whose warriors once slaughtered each other as an act of faith.

The society's declared aim is to teach Islam, considered by Libya's revolutionary and devout Moslem leaders as "the seal of all other religions." But conversions — particularly of Christians in the West — are prominently mentioned. "A Danish lady came all the way to Tripoli yesterday to embrace Islam," a society official said. "An Italian lady is next."

"We are now accepted even in Western societies," says the society's head, Sheik Mahmoud Subhi.

Black Africa, however, still remains the society's prime target as it is for Christian missionaries, particularly for Roman Catholic orders.

Islam's drive southward has won over 140 million of the continent's 340 million population, officials here claim, but an African bishop, Jean Zoa of Cameroun, said he expects the continent's Christians, now only 23 per cent of the population, to make up over a half by the year 2000.

"In Africa we are ahead," Sheik Subhi said in an interview. "But it's not because of hard work by Moslem or Christian missionaries. It's simply because Islam is a religion of nature. It preaches equality. That simple fact appeals to people."

In parts of Africa swept by rapid decolonization, Christianity is still portrayed as white man's religion.

While there exists no known incidents in drives for conversions, Khadafy has promised help to Moslem rebels fighting central governments dominated by Christians, especially aid to Eritrea's Moslem rebels against Ethiopia, and the Moslems in the Philippines. Libya is also said to have aided Lebanon's Moslems in recent sectarian warfare there.

Khadafy views them more as political "liberation" movements than just religious conflicts. "To incite Moslems against Christians and vice versa is not among Islamic principles," he once said.

Fund-raising event is held in LaMonte

LaMONTE — An old-fashioned watermelon feast, sponsored by the LaMonte Community Betterment Club, was held Sunday at the LaMonte Scout Park.

Various contests were held with the winners including Fire Chief and Civil Defense Director Gene Smith, champion adult seed spitter. Other seed-spitting contest winners were Sally Gestaut, Sandal Bell, Kayla Smith, Shelly Scott, Danny Smith, Krista Smith, Mark Thompson and Maxine Thompson.

Also winning an award was two-month-old Albert D. Bingham II, winner in the "kiss-a-baby contest." All contributions gathered at the watermelon feast were earmarked for cystic fibrosis research and treatment.

Tricky riders

Ever since man invented the wheel, he's shown a remarkable preference for rolling rather than plodding along. That usually makes it easier to get around. But Carrie Mason, 7, and her sister, Lisa, 10, who travel tandem-style on a skateboard near their home in Eugene, Ore., have taken things one step further. The way to do it makes even crawling on hands and knees look like an easier bet. (AP Wirephoto)

Consumers get break in prices

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Consumers got a bit of a break at the grocery store during September, an Associated Press marketbasket shows. But higher prices for coffee, butter, eggs and pork wiped out most of the savings on beef and sugar.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973, and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month.

During September, the marketbasket total at the checklist store increased in six cities, up an average of 3.7 per cent, and decreased in seven cities, down an average of 2.6 per cent. Over-all, the bill at the start of October was three-tenths of a per cent more than it was a month earlier.

During both July and August, the marketbasket bill was up at the checklist store in 10 cities and declined in only three, indicating some improvement last month.

The price fluctuations generally reflected changes at the farm and wholesale levels.

At the farm level, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said Tuesday that prices paid to farmers rose 3 per cent from Aug. 15 to Sept. 15 after remaining steady the month before. The increase was due mainly to higher prices for milk, beef cattle, eggs, pork and wheat.

Frost in Brazil damaged much of the coffee crop that would have been harvested next year. That drove up the cost of coffee beans now available and manufacturers started raising wholesale prices.

The wholesale boosts took a while to filter through to the retail level, however, because many stores offer coffee as a loss leader to get buyers into their outlets. Manufacturers, promotion offers to supermarkets also helped keep prices down for consumers.

During September, however, the price of a one-pound can of coffee went up at the checklist store in eight of the 13 cities surveyed, rising an average of 13 per cent. The biggest increase came in Providence, R.I., where a one-pound can went from $1.28 to $1.59, up 24 per cent. Coffee was unchanged at the checklist store in four cities and was not available in the specified size at the survey store in the 13th city.

Helping offset the increases on coffee and other items were lower prices for beef and sugar.

Sugar prices, which soared to record levels last December, then started declining, had been rising during the summer, reflecting an increase in the price of raw sugar. The raw sugar price went down again; refiners charged grocery stores less; and retail prices dropped. The AP survey showed the price of a five-pound sack of granulated sugar declined during September at the checklist store in 11 cities. The average decrease was 10 per cent.

Schmidt, Ford to meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt and President Ford, who met at a Helsinki summit meeting during the summer, will meet again at the White House on Friday.

The White House gave no more information on the meeting but said Schmidt will make a speech in New York on Thursday.

Pungoteague ranks with Plymouth Rock—for some

EDITOR'S NOTE — It began with "Ye Beare and Ye Cubb" and progressed to the performance of the Sons of Liberty, who deep-sixed the tea. Yea, theater in America had an inauspicious beginning, what with the archetype pro actor being a reformed pirate. But look what it led to!

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drame Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Among historic spots, Pungoteague lacks the instant clout of a Plymouth Rock, Bunker Hill or Valley Forge.

For theater buffs, however, it is something special, particularly in a season of bicentennial lang syne.

Back in 1655, three restive young actor-farmers put on a play in the tiny settlement on Virginia's eastern shore. The event was the first example on record of drama effort in any of the future United States.

With apt irony, theater's arrival was accompanied by the first attempt at artistic censorship. A self-appointed custodian of public morals hauled the perpetrators of "Ye Beare and Ye Cubb" into court for cavorting in indecent costumes.

A panel of judges found for the defendants, and made their accuser pay all costs.

"This ruling," a later historian dead-panned, "might be considered the first favorable review of a play in America."

The exact theme of the primordial exhibit hasn't survived, but scholars opine that "Ye Beare and Ye Cubb" offered allegorical comment viz mother England and her struggling colony.

The intrepid Pungoteague pioneers were never heard from again, and New York's Broadway didn't start to emerge as the thespic capital for another half-century. But signs of dramatic activity sporadically increased in seaboard settlements.

The Puritans of New England, Quakers of Pennsylvania and stolid Dutch burghers of New York, however, were harder to convince about theater as either a theological weapon or innocuous diversion.

Pioneer American actress

This 1771 painting shows actress Nancy Hallam in a scene from an Annapolis, Md., presentation of Shakespeare's "Cymbeline." Miss Hallam was a member of the Hallam family which founded the American Acting Company of Williamsburg, Va., an ensemble which toured for half a century with notable success. The portrait, by Charles Willson Peale, is from the Colonial Williamsburg collection. (AP)

A more pleasure-minded underground was busy, historians agree, and undoubtedly kept surreptitious drama going along with other recreations.

The first professional actor of record to perform in North America was Anthony Aston, who at age 20 in 1697 embarked on a three-year barnstorming tour of New England after quitting a piracy career in the West Indies.

After Actor Aston opened the way, the Caribbean island of Jamaica became a center for fostering Thespis in the American colonies. Possibly as a way of diverting buccaneers who swarmed the Spanish Main, planters there created an important theater.

Out of that far playhouse in 1745 came an Irish lad of 18, John Moody. The reports he shortly afterwards spread in England of opportunity in the New World encouraged many ambitious performers to migrate.

By the time of the American Revolution every sizable community from Charleston, S.C., to Boston had at least one playhouse.

They were generally crude affairs, frequently a converted tobacco drying loft or warehouse. Management's main interest was crowding in a maximum number of spectators at two to eight shillings each (25 cents to $1).

Theatergoing was a chancey affair. Tallow candles dripped on ladies' gowns and gents' finery, noisy groundlings and galleryites frequently pelted players with eggs, vegetables and gingerbread. Dandies wandered up to accost actresses despite a row of upright spikes placed at the stage edge to separate cast and audience. Rouged bawds paraded.

The growing spirit of colonial rebellion sometimes overflowed into the arenas. In 1766 the Sons of Liberty tried to boycott a theater in reprisal for the Stamp Act. On another occasion "A Song in Praise of Liberty" was astutely inserted in a performance to soothe tempers.

One mob outbreak in New York ended with a boy killed while the crowd tried to demolish the theater, then set fire to it.

The Continental Congress in 1775 suspended all theater activity for the duration, "urging frugality." During the occupation of New York the famous John Street Theater, built in 1767, became the Theatre Royale. Gen. Burgoyne wrote a play. Maj. John Andre, of subsequent treasonable relation with Benedict Arnold, designed sets and acted for his redcoated colleagues.

The busy major's fame lingered on after the arrival of independence. William Dunlap, "the father of American theater," wrote one of his plays in 1798 about Andre's tribulations.

According to Hugh F. Rankin, who compiled a history of the tumultuous period, America's colonial theater was derivative, produced practically no playwrights, indulged in flamboyant acting "but did bring lively and vigorous entertainment from the old world."

Gen. William Mitchell, World War I aviation hero and ardent advocate of air power, was courtmartialed for insubordination in 1925 and later vindicated.

That's happiness

Five-year-old Kay Lisby hugged a toy poodle at a party given for all the doctors, nurses and others who helped her get to the United States and have the open heart surgery that was not available to her in her home country of Nicaragua. Kay will visit Ft. Atkinson, Wis., whose residents paid for her trip, before going home.

Energy legislation approved

By Roll Call Report

WASHINGTON — Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes Sept. 18 through Sept. 24:

HOUSE

OIL — Passed, 255 for and 148 against, a many-faceted bill (HR 7014) to increase domestic sources of energy, encourage energy conservation and establish a national oil policy. The measure was sent to conference with a similar Senate-passed bill.

The most crucial and controversial provision deals with oil price controls. HR 7014 would reinstate the $5.25 per barrel ceiling on "old" domestic oil which expired Aug. 31. In addition, the bill would for the first time set price controls on "new" domestic oil. Currently selling for the world market price of roughly $13 per barrel, the price of "new" oil would be rolled back to as low as $7.50 per barrel.

HR 7014 would also set fuel-efficiency standards for cars and other consumer products, create a billion-barrel anti-embargo oil reserve, give a President stand-by gasoline rationing authority, require that for three years the quantity of gasoline sold by service stations would not exceed 1973-74 embargo era levels, encourage conversion to coal and other non-oil energy supplies, and strengthen federal auditing of energy firms to give Congress access to more reliable energy statistics.

One supporter, Rep. William Randall, D-Mo., argued that HR 7014, unlike the administration's oil decontrol plan, would promote the nation's economic recovery and control inflation.

One opponent, Rep. Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, said the bill is a "chamber of horrors," which because of its price control provisions is headed toward a presidential veto.

Rep. William Randall voted yes; Rep. Richard Ichord voted no.

BUSING — Adopted, 204 for and 201 against, an antibusing amendment to prohibit the use of gasoline to bus students to schools other than those in their neighborhoods.

The amendment was attached to HR 7014 (above) and was ostensibly designed as a fuel-saving measure. It would be enforced by the Federal Energy Administration.

If enacted, the amendment will not prevent the courts from ordering busing to achieve school desegregation. Therefore, it could prove to be superfluous. In any event, the vote demonstrated growing congressional dissatisfaction with busing as a school desegregation tool.

Rep. James Collins, R-Tex., the sponsor, said the amendment fits in with other provisions of HR 7014 designed to curtail "unnecessary transportation" and thus save energy. One opponent, Rep. Richard Ottinger, D-N.Y., said the amendment "has no place in this energy bill" and is "not constitutional and not sensible."

Randall and Ichord voted yes.

PANAMA CANAL — Rejected, 1975 for and 203 against, language to kill a previously-voted ban on any State Department negotiations which could lead to relinquishing U.S. control over the Panama Canal Zone. All other provisions of the conference report on the amendment's parent bill (HR 8121), which appropriates operating funds to the Departments of State, Justice and Commerce through Sept. 30, 1976, were adopted later by voice vote.

The controversial amendment, adopted last June, denies appropriations for any Panama negotiations that would ultimately result in loss of U.S. jurisdiction. It was later removed by the House-Senate conference on the bill. Before the conference report on HR 8121 can be cleared for the White House, the Senate must respond to the House's vote to retain the language.

Supporters of nullifying the amendment said it would undercut Panama treaty negotiations now being conducted by the State Department. Rep. John Rhodes, R-Ariz., said the amendment amounted to "prejudging the whole situation and saying there is no way we can come up with some kind of a treaty which will make the Panamanians happy and which the U.S. will approve."

Opponents said U.S. supervision of the canal zone is vital to avert Communist takeover of the unstable country. Rep. Robert Bauman, R-Md., said the amendment should be preserved to show "that the Congress will not sit still for the sellout of the American interests in the Panama Canal."

Randall and Ichord voted no.

SENATE

FEDERAL PAY RAISE — Rejected, 39 for and 53 against, a resolution (S Res 239) disapproving President Ford's recommendation that a 5 per cent pay raise for members of Congress and many federal employes be enacted this year, instead of an 8.66 per cent increase which was proposed by the Advisory Committee on Federal Pay.

Those voting against favored the 5 per cent level. Unless the House adopts a resolution of disapproval, the 5 per cent hike will take effect today. A 5 per cent hike would raise salaries of House members and senators to $44,625. An 8.66 per cent increase would raise salaries to $46,150.

Earlier this year members of Congress voted to make themselves eligible for the annual cost-of-living pay hikes available to civil servants and some other federal employes. The 39-53 vote was to determine the precise amount of the 1975 increase.

Supporters of the resolution said the 8.66 per cent increase is necessary to soften the impact of inflation upon federal white collar workers and others, such as the victims of black lung disease receiving federal benefits.

Opponents criticized the 8.66 figure as budget-busting. They said it would necessitate trimming the federal budget by laying off thousands of federal military workers.

Sen. Stuart Symington voted no; Sen. Thomas Eagleton was present but not voting, he paired "against."

WORKER SAFETY — Adopted, 48 for and 45 against, an amendment designed to make federal job safety regulations less applicable to small businessmen. The amendment was attached to a bill (HR 8069) appropriating operating funds to the Departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare through Sept. 30, 1976. HR 8069 was headed for passage and conference with the House.

The amendment prohibits the use of any funds contained in HR 8069 for safety inspections of employers with three or fewer employes. Such inspections are now permitted under the 1970 Occupational Safety and Health Act.

Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., the sponsor, said the safety regulations at issue were designed to protect employes of large, "hazardous manufacturing concerns," not small, "family-operated" businesses.

One opponent, Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., said employes of small firms "are human beings as much as the fellow working for ... General Motors," and thus deserve the protection afforded by the Occupational Safety and Health Act.

Eagleton and Symington voted no.

Danny Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Dean Edwards, 1001 Leon, recently was elected president of the Sedalia Junior High School student body. Other officers named were Mary Beth McGuire, vice president; Scott Swafford, secretary; Steve Swafford, treasurer; and Robin Magee, reporter.

Chinese in their own small world

By STAN FISHER
The New Haven Register

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Jimmy Luke is the last of New Haven's Chinese laundrymen. His hands are twisted with arthritis after 46 years washing people's shirts in a job he never liked.

Naisin Lee is a young man from Taiwan. Each day he goes to a machine-filled laboratory at Yale to work on his doctorate in engineering and applied science. He is intelligent, motivated and making the most of his opportunity.

Luke and Lee are symbols of life for about 1,000 Chinese living in New Haven today.

Even though the Chinese share the problems of other ethnic groups, they remain a quiet, unobtrusive part of the population.

Chinese here are merchants, factory workers, restaurateurs, waiters, students, teachers, scientists, doctors. They are rich, middle class and poor. They are Buddhists, Christians, Taoists and nonreligious.

As a group they are industrious, somewhat reserved and proud of their culture.

"You treat me good, I treat you good. Same way," says Luke. He came to this country in 1910 at age 14 for schooling. His father died and he was left in the city with no one to take care of him.

He, like some 40 other Chinese here at one time, got involved in the laundry business.

There were few opportunities for people, like Luke, who looked, talked and thought differently.

That's still a major obstacle for Chinese in New Haven.

The Rev. Theodore Chan, Calvary Baptist Church pastor, says that the Chinese in the city schools have a difficult time keeping up with their classmates. He notes that although Hispanic children receive bilingual instruction, Chinese children don't.

For older Chinese the language barrier makes for a constricted lifestyle. For them the universe is a restaurant where they eat, sleep and work. The owner becomes their counselor through the unfathomable city.

That same isolation occurs in other ways.

Student Lee says because of cultural differences he finds it difficult to be involved in American society.

"I have American friends but few I can talk to in depth," he said. He says there's a separation, a feeling you're not being absorbed.

"We convert our energies into studies," Lee says.

Business news

LaMONTE — Grand opening ceremonies for Lee's TV store here were held Saturday with the ribbon-cutting performed by Mayor Delbert Langkahr and local Community Betterment Chairman Mrs. W. C. Jones.

Free refreshments were offered and door prizes were awarded to three persons.

Tar and feathers was a form of punishment in which the victim was coated with molten pitch or tar and then covered with feathers. Although it was an official punishment in England as early as the 12th century, it is associated in America with mob action. The Sons of Liberty used this punishment against Loyalists and Crown officials prior to and during the Revolutionary War, The World Almanac recalls.

FBI and CIA heroes get tarnished

WASHINGTON — We Americans are witnessing an incredible process of turning old heroes into bums, not much unlike what the Soviet Union went through when Nikita Khrushchev found it advantageous to strip the halo from people's memory of Josef Stalin.

Rowan

J. Edgar Hoover used to be one of the most revered names in America. He was Mr. Law and Order, the very symbol of probity and patriotism.

For weeks now we have seen a parade of revelations suggesting that Hoover was an egomaniac who would quickly abandon the national interest if that was essential in his quest to stay one-up on the CIA or some other intelligence agency.

In recent days we have learned that Mr. Law and Order was a rather lawless fellow, perpetrating more burglaries than the Catman. Senate investigators have revealed that, under Hoover, FBI agents carried out 238 illegal burglaries of the homes and offices of American citizens and groups.

Less celebrated on the list of Americans who quickly are being transformed into "anti-heroes" are Richard Helms, former director of the CIA, and James Angleton, former CIA counter-intelligence chief, and assorted doctors and scientists who developed and-or stashed away poisons and drugs.

There was a time when Americans thought that, like James Bond, the CIA's super-sleuths could do no wrong. Now they are being pilloried for illegally reading the mail of Richard Nixon, Hubert Humphrey, Frank Church, and thousands of other Americans. They are being accused of deceiving the president of the United States, of defying his orders in matters as important as chemical and biological warfare.

Now we hear Americans castigating these men and others as defilers of American democracy. They are being scorned and ridiculed as common crooks — as men who "acted as a law unto themselves even though they knew what they were doing was illegal."

Not for a moment will I defend their activities, which I find utterly frightening. After all, I was writing that Hoover was a menace to liberty and decency in this country back when he was alive and powerful and it was both unpopular and dangerous to say anything against him, publicly or privately.

Yet, simple justice requires that we recapture the perspective in which some of these now-condemned acts occurred. Only then can we ascertain the measure of guilt of the entire society.

Someone once said that the strength of a dictatorship is that it forces its enemies to imitate it. Recent revelations about the abuses and trespasses of our secret agencies are bone-chilling evidence that this is so.

The CIA was on some righteous mission to save the world from Communists. How else to save a Nixon, Humphrey or Church than to steal his mail and read it?

FBI memoes speak of that agency's "black bag jobs" as "clearly illegal," yet Hoover continued to approve them as "an invaluable technique in combating subversive activities of a clandestine nature aimed directly at undermining and destroying this nation."

So to keep the nation from being "undermined," its most prestigious law enforcement agency stealthily undermined the rule of law.

Why did they do it? Because they figured the atmosphere of fear (of Communists and other dissenters) was so manifestly great that it gave them (the CIA and FBI) a sort of implied mandate to do whatever they felt they had to do to "protect" the nation.

In no time at all, we were not merely imitating Soviet tyranny or some other despotic regime. We were improving upon their police state tactics — adopting the very measures from which we had set out to shield the world.

The people who went along meekly years ago, when the dread of communism was so great that no one uttered the word detente, will not be the first to hold a hanging party for the nation's new anti-heroes.

But shouldn't the cowards among us admit to some measure of blame?

Mills holds to dignity that's left

By TOM TIEDE
NEA News Analyst

WASHINGTON — It was the woman what turned him wrong, assuredly, but one year, Oct. 7, after his disastrous private life was made public Wilbur Mills has reason to be thankful.

Tiede

Sobered in a variety of ways over the months, reduced by humiliation to the level of everyman, the congressman from Arkansas says by the time the nation learned of his indiscretions he was so debilitated by pills, alcoholism and Fanne Foxe he was very near death.

"I'm glad the thing in Boston happened," he explained, referring to the night he came bleary-eyed out of an audience to join Miss Foxe the stripper in the spotlight of a sweat-stained supperclub stage. He says he doesn't remember the event precisely, having consumed "five quarts of vodka" in the previous 24 hours, but he's sure the publicity that destroyed his career may have saved his life: "If I'd have gone on like that, I'd have been dead in two months."

Remembering such times is quite naturally laborious for the man. Time is a great healer but his cancer was deep. Seated in his Capitol Hill office, the finest in Congress, surrounded by the memories of better times (there are 16 frames magazine cover stories about Mills on his walls), words about the Argentine Firecracker and days of the drunk come hard. It is in fact only when he escorts a visitor out of the offices, and into the less venerated hallways that Mills lets go. Cigarette in his teeth, his hand waving to passing gawkers, he talks like a man who uses conversation as therapy:

"I haven't had a drink in seven months, and I don't intend to have one ever again. Hell, I can't have one, even one. If I did I'd get drunk, I'd be gone. Alcoholism is a progressive thing and if I started again I'd be worse than ever, if I drank two fifths a day before I'd drink three fifths a day now. It's like tuberculosis, there is no cure. You can arrest it, but not get rid of it. I've got to stay sober. Fortunately for me, I want to stay sober."

There is of course the touch of the alibi to Mills' emphatic sobriety. Bad judgment being less easy to explain than mental illness, he has of late taken to dismissing his activities of a year ago by disclaiming responsibility. Recent statements by Miss Foxe that she was once pregnant by the congressman are — as all the ugly incidents of the period — turned away by Mills who pleads he "was so drunk most of the time" he can't remember.

Critics of the lawmaker, and some of his friends as well, believe he uses the alcoholism as a convenience, and he has still not admitted, even as his peer Teddy Kennedy, that his actions were the stuff of human not liquid chemistry.

Yet official Washington accepts the alibi, for the most part, if for not other reason than deference to the 16-term representative, and perhaps because there are few in town who have not, to some degree, messed up their own private lives through stupidity. Besides, there is the feeling the man has suffered enough, too much considering that all he did was hurt himself.

Says one senator along this line: "I'm not going to comment on Wilbur Mills anymore, except to say I admire him. He sank to the bottom but he didn't give up, he didn't drown. It takes a strong kind of courage for him to stay in Washington, amid all the giggles, and by God I salute him. Let's leave him be, let's let him keep what dignity he has left."

To this end, it should be said Wilbur Mills has retained considerable dignity. His power is gone but his presence remains and his good judgment has returned. Even Fanne Foxe, a dreary, selfish, morally grotesque woman, can no longer ruffle the old patsy. Asked about the stripper's current efforts to capitalize by confession on the Tidal Basin relationship, Mills says he is bothered but not angered and has "no intention" of replying in kind. "I will say only that I do not remember many of the things she says she remembers."

It has been 12 months now, Wilbur Mills is a broken human being, Fanne Foxe is, however, still not a freckle on his hand, and the rest of us perhaps have sniggered enough. As for morality, should we consider titilation? "Learn what a people glory in," said James Martineau, "and you may learn much of both the theory and practice of their morals."

To the Hoang family, welcome to our town

(Today's editorial takes the form of an open letter to Sedalia's new South Vietnamese refugee family.)

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Hoang:

Welcome to Sedalia, Missouri, United States of America. While you have been in the States for some time now, it is also probably true that the tent city at Indiantown Gap, Pa., was not exactly home. Now you have a home.

The one you left, along with about 150,000 of your countrymen, is now firmly in the grip of its Communist conquerors. The abrupt transition was no doubt traumatic for all of you, as it would be for any Sedalian who suddenly found himself uprooted and transplanted into a foreign nation and culture.

You still have your religion, of course, which has been a strong bridge spanning the chasm from your old life to the new. The role your church has played in the entire refugee resettlement effort has been a bright chapter in its long history.

Had you chosen to remain in Vietnam, your religion probably would not have stood you in very good stead with that nation's new masters. Christianity is suspect in Marxist societies, recognizing as it does a higher loyalty than that demanded by the State.

While we can't guarantee that your life will be a bed of roses here in Sedalia, you will find some definite advantages, compared to the place you left.

For example, no one will tell you what you can read, which radio or TV broadcasts you can listen to, or where you have to work and for how much. You will be able to travel if you wish, and your own children will not be recruited to spy on other members of your family. And if you want to openly criticize the government (a very popular pastime in America), you will be able to do so without fearing a knock on the door in the middle of the night.

You'll find Sedalians to be warm, down-to-earth folks, for the most part eager to be of help to strangers. The town has had a long tradition as a friendly host to foreigners under various student exchange programs.

We're sure the 13 Hoangs won't be any different.

Pressure by Marcos to intimidate foes

By JACK ANDERSON with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — In Washington, both Congress and the Justice Department are investigating our charges of last July that Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos offered a witness a $50,000 bribe not to testify on Capitol Hill about corruption and tyranny in the Philippines.

In Manila, Marcos reacted in a different way. He brought criminal charges against the witness, former press censor Primitivo Mijares, and is now using the criminal complaint as a ruse to seek his extradition.

Marcos has also retaliated against a San Francisco newspaper, the weekly Philippine News, which played up our bribe story. He brought pressure through his secretary of tourism, Jose Aspiras, on U.S. travel agencies to withdraw their ads from the paper.

The Marcos regime has the power, of course, to deny Philippine visas, commercial papers and other documents to clients of the travel agencies. As a result, four travel agencies have closed their accounts with the Philippine News. Publisher Alex Esclamado estimates the advertising loss will cost him $50,000 a year.

A spokesman for the Philippine embassy in Washington told us that the embassy has no knowledge of any advertising boycott against the Philippine News. If advertising was withdrawn from the paper, the spokesman added, "these acts were unsanctioned by the Philippine government."

On the contrary, we have obtained the actual letter that was sent to two of the travel agencies. It confirms the extortion in the baldest terms. We have also established that the pressure came directly from Marcos' personal aide, Dr. Guillermo De Vega.

The letter, written by Hotel Filipinas president Jose Cobarrubias, declares bluntly: "This letter will serve to confirm the verbal message that the Honorable Jose D. Aspiras, Secretary of Tourism, asked me yesterday afternoon to convey to you, i.e., that he would consider it a personal favor if you would discontinue your advertisements in the Philippine News.

"As you know, the Phillipine News has been continuously attacking the President. You also are aware of Secretary Aspiras's utmost respect for, and loyalty to, President Marcos; hence, this request should not be too much of a surprise to you."

In a cable to the Philippine embassy, Cobarrubias has taken full responsibility for the extortion letter. "Before I tried to persuade the travel agencies to pull out from Philippine News," he cabled, "I talked with Secretary of Tourism Jose Aspiras, and he agreed with me that the newspaper and others like it were hurting the local tourism industry.

"He said he and his department would not object to my campaign and would not stop me from going ahead with it since it was based on my own personal conviction."

We have an affidavit that we have verified, however, that the real pressure came from Marcos' Malacanang palace. His personal aide in Manila and Philippine consul Trinidad Alconcel in San Francisco put the heat on the travel agencies, according to our sworn evidence.

The two agencies, Phil-Am and Gem, regularly send officials to Manila. Both Phil-Am's Emile Heredia and Gem's Joseph Libunao encountered pressure in Manila. Libunao sent a cryptic cable to his San Francisco office declaring: "Requested by Aspiras to cooperate with Malacanang to help with the scandal ... Will explain details."

Spokesmen for the travel firms were shocked that we had obtained the extortion letter. They confirmed that they had cancelled their ads but refused to comment on their reasons. Explained Heredia: "I have a lot of employes. I do not want to get involved."

Publisher Esclamado told us he had broken with Marcos over his totalitarian tactics but "never thought he'd get away with reaching into the U.S. to bully our advertisers."

Footnote: We traced the $50,000 bribe from the Philippine National Bank to Lloyds Bank of California. The money was deposited in a joint bank account in the names of the witness Mijares and Marcos' man Alconcel. On the day that Mijares went ahead with his damaging testimony, the $50,000 was withdrawn by Alconcel.

In fairness to Marcos, we devoted a full column to a personal cable he sent us giving his side of the story. He claimed that the $50,000 was not a bribe but a down payment for a pro-Marcos newspaper that Mijares had wanted to establish.

Six points is the bare minimum for a normal response to a one bid in a suit and seven points the normal minimum.

Thus, when your partner opens the bidding, the rule of the ace and the king tells you that with 10 points (7 plus 3 for a king), you should consider inviting game even if partner shows he has opened a minimum-type hand. With 11 points (7 plus 4 for an ace), you should make some game try. While with 14 (7 plus 7 for an ace and a king), you should bid a game.

Actually, we will bid game with 13 points or an opening bid opposite an opening bid on the theory that you should not wait for sure things.

North bids two notrump to invite game with his 12 points and South accepts the invitation with his 14 points. His hand is minimum but not too minimum.

South wins the first trick with his king of spades over East's jack. He proceeds to knock out the ace of diamonds next and with everything behaving nicely will wind up making four or even five notrump.

Ask the Jacobys

A reader from Iowa asks, "You are playing duplicate with a strange partner. He responds three spades to your one-club opening. You pass with a minimum hand with a singleton spade. You miss a club slam and he informs you that his three-spade bid was super-forcing. What system was he playing?"

One of which we have never heard and certainly not one that is normal in the great State of Iowa.

Hard right connects

Frazier can't answer bell

Ali riddles Frazier in 14

MANILA (AP) — It was a great fight, one of the greatest, brutally physical and gutty. The combatants—the stand-up matador with lightning reflexes and the charging, pursuing bull, his attack unrelenting— gave no quarter.

And at the end of it—after 42 incredible minutes of warfare, of intense battle among two bitter and familiar rivals—there stood Muhammad Ali, undisputed king of all he surveyed in boxing's heavyweight ranks.

The record books will record it simply: Ali over Joe Frazier, TKO, 14th round. But the cold statistics don't pay proper tribute to the durability and refusal to fold on the part of a great champion and the raw courage of the challenger.

"He could have whupped any fighter in the world, except me," a weary Ali said afterward. "He is great—he is greater than I thought. He is one hell of a fighter and it was one hell of a fight."

It was the third meeting between these two powerful black men—the champion out of Louisville, Ky., 33, a man who has been at center stage for 15 years now, and the challenger, 31, out of the Jim Crow South and a one-time slaughterhouse butcher in a Philadelphia ghetto.

Both of the early battles were slugging matches which went the limit—Frazier taking the first in 15 and Ali the second in 12—and this one went through 14 rounds with little to choose between them.

But in the 14th, drawing upon some mysterious source of strength after appearing on his last legs in the fight's middle rounds, Ali jarred Frazier's rock-like head with a sledgehammer right and sent the challenger's knees crumbling with a series of one-two punches to the head.

Before the beli could ring for the final round, Eddie Futch, Frazier's trainer, strode to the middle of the ring and told the Philippine referee, Carlos Padilla, Jr., that his man had had enough.

A loud roar of "Ali, Ali, Ali"—by now a universal chant—went up from the crowd 25,000 in the indoor Philippine Coliseum.

Frazier stood in his corner, a sad sight with a purple bruise under his right eye, a knot on his forehead and blood oozing between his teeth.

"Joe was taking some hard shots to the head and, in his condition, I thought he had no way to win the fight," Futch said afterward. "I didn't want him to get hurt."

Angelo Dundee, who has guided Ali's fortunes through 51 fights, all but two of them victories, said he thought Futch took wise and humane action. "I would have done the same thing," he said.

While handlers cut the gloves from Frazier's wrists and the referee screamed the announcement to the howling crowd, Muhammad Ali, actor, fighter and Muslim preacher, could not resist one final charade.

He took two steps away from his stool and did a swan dive to the blue canvas floor, lying there prone with arms outstretched as if he himself was in a faint.

"He wasn't trying to be funny," said Dundee. "he did it to keep all of those idiots in his corner from jumping up and down on him."

Ali arose after a while, sat on his stool and then walked slowly to his dressing room. Normally loud and bombastic, Ali was subdued.

"I am tired," he said. "My arms are sore, my legs are sore, my side is sore. I want to rest."

Addressing himself to the beaten challenger, who never touched a knee to the floor although he absorbed appalling punishment, the champion said, "I couldn't have taken the punches he took. He is really tough. He shook me a couple of times, shook me good."

One of the times was in the 10th round when the stubby, stoop-shouldered Frazier lashed out with a left hook that caught Ali flush on the jaw. Ali's legs wobbled momentarily, but he quickly recovered.

It was then that the fight, which had seemed to turn in Frazier's favor after a strong Ali start, suddenly turned around again. At the end of the 10th, having lost four of the last five rounds, his legs beginning to show signs of weakness and the authority gone from his punches, Ali thought he might be finished.

"I felt like quitting," he said. "But I said to myself, 'I cannot quit, I am a champion.'"

This fantastic ability to reach into some invisible reservoir for strength and fresh competitive vigor was the keynote of the fight.

Casey Stengel rites scheduled for Monday

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — Befitting his stature of baseball royalty, Casey Stengel will lie in state before burial in this Los Angeles suburb.

Arrangements for Stengel's funeral were completed Tuesday, amid a dramatic avalanche of tributes that continued to flood Glendale for the beloved "Old Prefesser" who died early Tuesday morning of cancer.

Often acclaimed as baseball's No. 1 goodwill ambassador, the colorful Stengel died at the age of 85 after an exquisitely rich career.

Funeral services for the Hall of Fame player and managerial great will be held next Monday at 1 p.m., PDT, at the Church of the Recessional in Forest Lawn Memorial Park in Glendale.

Stengel requested before his death that in lieu of flowers charitable donations in his name could be made to the Association of Professional Baseball Players of America, 630 E. Wardlow Road, Long Beach, Calif. The association is a benefit group helping men formerly associated with baseball.

Nicklaus, Miller meet in final showdown

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — The last of the year's lop-sided series of Jack Nicklaus-Johnny Miller confrontations begins Thursday with Miller hoping to salvage a little personal pride from what has become a very long season.

Miller, bouyed by his record-setting exploits in the Arizona desert, won three of his first four starts of the year. He's collected $191,118 in official winnings. But he hasn't won in eight months.

And, perhaps more importantly, he hasn't beaten Nicklaus all season.

They've played in the same tournament on 12 occasions. They tied for third in the British Open, tied for sixth in the Crosby and tied for fourth in Atlanta. Nicklaus has finished ahead of Johnny in all the others.

Their meeting in the $175,000 Kaiser International Open beginning Thursday will be their last of the year. Nicklaus won't play in this country again until 1976.

He's already clinched his seventh money-winning title with an unbeatable $291,849 already in the bank. His five victories, including the Masters and PGA, make him an almost certain choice for his fourth Player of the Year award.

Fly Williams placed on waivers by Spirits

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Spirits of St. Louis have announced that second-year guard Fly Williams has been placed on waivers.

The 6-foot-5 Williams, who played forward at Austin Peay College but was considered too small for that position on the American Basketball Association team, did not fit in with the team developed for the coming season, a spokesman for the Spirits said Tuesday.

"We felt he wasn't going to play that much here," said new head coach Rod Thorn. "and if he couldn't play, we felt he wouldn't be happy. Fly's really a small forward and that's a spot we don't have open on our team."

As a guard for St. Louis last year, Williams compiled a 9.4 season scoring average, but he also accumulated the highest error-ratio-per-minute-played in the ABA.

Longhorns top NCAA members in rushing stats

NEW YORK (AP) — Texas is back on top...in rushing, that is.

The Longhorns, 1½ weeks away from their annual Cotton Bowl showdown with Oklahoma, leads the nation's major colleges in rushing with 390.3 yards a game, according to figures released today by the NCAA Statistics Service.

Texas, with its awesome Wishbown attack, led the nation in rushing during 1969-70. Then came Oklahoma's Wishbone in 1971 with the all-time record of 472.4 yards a game. The Sooners dominated the picture before Texas took over.

Before the Sooners think about the Longhorns, though, they've got to concern themselves with Colorado, the nation's total offense leader with 516 yards per game rushing and passing.

San Diego State leads in passing with 268.5 yards a game. Texas A&M is tops in total defense with 140 yards yielded per game and in rushing defense with 52.7 allowed per game. Princeton leads in pass defense with a 34-yard-per-game mark.

Western Ky. cuts into Grambling's lead in poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Grambling remains atop The Associated Press college division poll this week, but the Tigers' lead over second-place Western Kentucky slipped to a meager 19 points.

In balloting by a nationwide panel of sportswriters and sportscasters, Grambling 3-0-0, which was idle last week, took 18 first-place votes out of 44 cast and had a total of 357 points. The Hilltoppers of Western Kentucky, a 30-3 winner over Austin Peay, got 11 first-place votes and 338 points.

Boise State, with four votes for No. 1, Texas A&I, with five, and Jackson State, with one, rounded out the top five, just as they did a week ago.

Idaho State and Eastern Kentucky held onto sixth and seventh places, respectively, meaning the top seven teams remained the same this week.

Northern Michigan, a 41-14 winner over Nebraska-Omaha last Saturday, advanced from 11th to eighth, while North Dakota State shot from 15th to ninth on the strength of a 49-7 victory over Morningside. Delaware, the only team in the top 10 with a loss, is 10th, down one spot from a week ago.

Rounding out the top 15 are Wittenberg, Henderson State, Montana, Ithaca and Abilene Christian.

Wittenberg slipped from eighth to 11th despite winning. Henderson State slipped from 10th to 12th and Abilene Christian fell from 14th to 15th after a narrow 24-21 loss to fourth-ranked Texas A&I.

Montana and Ithaca are the newcomers to the poll, and both made it on the strength of firstplace votes. Montana got two and Ithaca one to put them ahead of teams which got more votes but fewer points.

Will leave NCAA

COLLEGEVILLE, Minn. — St. John's University of Collegeville withdrew its membersip in the National Collegiate Athletic Association, protesting the new NCAA size limits placed on member football teams.

Marcum, Huff, White lead SFCC to 5-2 win

Mike Marcum and Jim Huff scored twice and Martin White established a single-game assist record as State Fair Community College inched its soccer record above the .500 mark with a 5-2 win over Central Missouri State University Tuesday night.

Marcum gave SFCC, now 3-2, its first goal two minutes into the game. White picked up his first of three assists on the play.

Marcum scored again at the 27-minute mark of the first half to give SFCC a 2-0 lead. Dave Wingerter assisted on the corner kick.

Huff on White's second assist, made it 3-0 with just under 10 minutes to go in the first half.

Huff scored his second goal 12 minutes into the second half on an assist by Mark Wheeler.

Bill Sandor scored Sate Fair's final goal of the contest on an assist fromWhite at 28 minutes.

State Fair goalie Denny Morris kept the Mules scoreless until the 33-minute mark of the second half. CMSU scored again with just 30 seconds left in the contest.

State Fair travels to Fayette to meet Central Methodist College Tuesday afternoon.

Green Ridge topples Grems in volleyball

Green Ridge defeated Sedalia Sacred Heart in girls Kaysinger Conference volleyball action Tuesday night with straight set wins in the varsity competition, 15-6, 15-4.

The Gremlins also lost the junior high contest, 15-2, 15-4.

In other Kaysinger action, Stover defeated Warsaw, 15-5, 15-13. Stover swept the night's action with 15-1, 15-5 straight set wins in the junior high match.

LaMonte won the first set, forcing Smithton to come from behind. The Tigers did, winning the varsity match, 9-15, 15-11, 15-10. In the junior high contest, LaMonte won, 15-13, 11-15, 15-12.

Lincoln swept Northwest (Hughesville) in both matches. The Cardinals captured the senior high match, 15-8, 15-11. In junior high action, Lincoln posted 15-10, 15-9 set wins.

Scouts recall farm players

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Scouts have recalled defensemen Claude Haude and Roger Lemelin from their Springfield, Mass., farm club, the Scouts announced Tuesday.

General Manager Sid Abel said the Scouts wanted Haude and Lemelin to see some action in the team's last two National Hockey League preseason games this weekend against the Minnesota North Stars. Both played briefly for Kansas City last season.

Al Onofrio thought Mich. would be 3-0

CHICAGO (AP) — Missouri Coach Al Onofrio isn't about to claim the Big Ten football title even if his Big Eight Tigers should defeat Michigan this week.

"It never entered my mind," Onofrio told Chicago Football Writers via a telephone interview Tuesday although his Tigers already have kayoed Illinois and Wisconsin on successive Saturdays.

Nor would Onofrio begin to compare his fifth-ranked Tigers with the 1969 team which shared the Big Eight title with Nebraska.

"The only thing on my mind is Michigan," said Onofrio. "They are tough both offensively and defensively. I know about their two tie games and that should make them even tougher. Would they be a different team if they had won those two games by one point?

"Not at all," Onofrio answered his own question, "And they would be right up there in the rankings.

"Yes, I thought Michigan would be 3-0 at this stage of the season but they did tie a very good Baylor team and Stanford always can be tough."

In an earlier interview, Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler said the present Missouri team "compares with the 1969 team" which handed Michigan a 40-17 defeat.

But Onofrio disagreed and said the 1969 team "had more speed. This team is bigger with bigger lines on both offense and defense."

Onofrio said Joe Moore of the 1969 team was faster than Tony Galbreath in comparison of tailbacks but added, "Galbreath could be the best back we've ever had. He's 225 with 4.8 speed but has very quick feet, changes directions, is one of our better receivers and he can also throw the football."

Onofrio said quarterback Steve Pisarkiewicz has the strongest arm of any quarterback Missouri has had since Paul Christman.

"He's reading defenses better, running better and we have been behind in our last two games but that hasn't rattled him. By keeping his wits he helps the rest of the team. He gets better every game and still has potential to realize."

Onofrio said his big problem is Missouri's oposition has been very physical and that it takes most of the week for the players to get over their hurts.

"That was no problem after the Alabama game because we had a lot of time to get ready. But Illinois and Wisconsin were both awful physical teams."

Osborne says Miami is no fluke; wet weather forces MU inside

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Miami is for real," declares Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne of the Hurricane, who sweep into Lincoln Saturday after coming close to derailing top-ranked Oklahoma.

Osborne had his defensive people working against Miami's "double reverse" formation in Tuesday's drills, mindful of the success the Florida team enjoyed against the Sooners. "On defense they hustle and hit you," Osborne said. "They held Oklahoma to under 200 yards rushing and Oklahoma only earned 10 points — so they've got to have a good defense to do that."

The weekend schedule for the Big Eight is rife with stiff challenges. Kansas State hosts sixth-ranked Texas A&M and fifth-ranked Missouri travels to No. 12 Michigan.

In the conference opener, Oklahoma is home against Colorado, ranked 19th.

K-State Coach Ellis Rainsberger reported he had his players concentrating on the Aggies' "loaded options and team pursuit because they have tremendous speed." Despite Texas A&M's leading role nationally in rushing defense, Rainsberger said, "we plan to run more than pass if we can."

The Missouri coaches had to bring their charges indoors for work on artificial turf Tuesday because of rain. Star tailback Tony Galbreath was given a rest. "We really didn't want to run Tony on the artificial surface," Coach Al Onofrio explained. "You carry the ball 26 times in a game and get hit by six or seven people every time — you get pretty sore."

The Oklahoma defensive front is in for a challenge because the Buffalo "do so many things so well," Coach Barry Switzer said. "The best way for us to stop them is to control the ball on offense, but we'll have a hard time doing that."

Another team forced indoors by weather Tuesday was Kansas, preparing for its trip to Wisconsin. It's doubtful Richard McAuliffe, starting wide receiver, will go. He injured his shoulder in practice Monday. Coach Bud Moore said Waddell Smith will get the assignment.

Despite the anticipated absence Saturday of Oklahoma State quarterback Charlie Weatherbie against Texas Tech, Coach Jim Stanley reports, "I'll tell you one thing, if we lose the game it won't be the quarterback's fault." Jimmie Derrick and Scott Burk were working the position Nos. 1 and 2 respectively and both, Stanley said Tuesday, "looked pretty good." Weatherbie broke his collarbone last week.

Iowa State, preparing for its final nonconference game against Utah, had "one of its best practices of the season" Tuesday, Coach Earle Bruce said. "Our offensive timing looked very good."

Philadelphia puts Lewis on waivers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Raymond Lewis, a 6-foot-1 guard who finally showed up at the Philadelphia 76ers basketball camp after a three-year hiatus, was placed on waivers Tuesday, the team said.

Lewis mysteriously left the National Basketball Association team's camp in 1973 after signing a three-year contract.

The bonus No. 1 draft pick out of Los Angeles State had complained of back pains after working out Thursday and Friday. A team physician who examined Lewis said he had a chronic back ailment.

Expect Wightman to start for NU

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Jim Wightman, a sophomore linebacker for the University of Nebraska, returned to practice Tuesday after being charged with assaulting or resisting a police officer.

The felony charges, which stem from a Saturday night incident in Omaha, were filed Monday in Omaha Municipal Court, and Wightman, a 213-pound starter for the fourth-ranked Huskers, will appear for a preliminary hearing next Monday.

In the meantime, his starting status for Saturday's tilt with the University of Miami is intact, according to Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne.

Wightman was charged after an altercation in which three Omaha policemen were injured.

Police said Wightman attacked an officer as the officer tried to place Wightman under arrest for a traffic violation and for trying to drive away from them.

Wightman claims that officers struck him first, and has offered to take a lie detector test to prove his innocence.

"The court can take its process," said Osborne after Tuesday's practice, "It will be handled just as any other normal citizen is treated."

"I believe in him (Wightman)," Osborne said, adding that there appear to be "certain circumstances" surrounding the incident which "are strange."

"I believe in Jim's story, which is also substantiated by witnesses. I'm sure there is another side of the story, but right now I'm just going on what Jim said," said Osborne.

Wightman told reporters he is "very sorry about the incident, and I just want to get back to playing ball."

Tigers drop first volleyvall contest

JEFFERSON CITY — Jefferson City stopped Sedalia Smith-Cotton's winning streak at three in girls volleyball here Tuesday night with straight set wins, 15-12, 15-6.

The Tigers had a tough night of it, losing the junior varsity match in straight sets as well, 15-5, 15-6.

Smith-Cotton's, (3-1) next action will be in the Green Ridge Invitational Tournament, which opens Monday night. Both the varsity and the junior varsity will compete in the 12-team affair.

Wimbledon ref stepping down

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Capt. Mike Gibson, referee of the Wimbledon Tennis Tournament since 1961, announced Tuesday he was quitting the job because "I believe the time has come to make a change."

The 46-year-old former Army officer said his contract was about to expire and he had to decide whether to continue for another five or 10 years. His decision came in the wake of rumors that the All-England Club, which runs Wimbledon, was about to change referees.

Although Gibson never disqualified any player from a Wimbledon tourney after taking over the job from his father-inlaw, Col. John Legge, he ruled with authority.

The Sedalia Scottish Rite Club will hold the October Business meeting October 2, 1975 at the Masonic Temple, Broadway at Missouri, at 7:30 P.M. We will practice for the 29th Degree Service. All Scottish Rite members are urged to attend, please.
